Americans Not Harmed By FALN Group

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Pro-Communist terrorists made good Wednesday night on their threat to destroy the headquarters of the U. S. military mission in Caracas.

Eight gunmen overpowered a Venezuelan guard at the building entrance, forced 12 mission employees to take off their clothes, splashed gasoline on the building and set it afire.

The headquarters, an old Spanish colonial building in the fashionable country club section, was ruined. The mission's records were destroyed. None of the mission personnel was harmed.

Gunmen screamed "Yankee Imperialists" at the Americans and smeared walls with their identifying letters, FALN, the Armed Forces for National Liberation.

The FALN, trying to topple the government by force, is made up mostly of Communists but is led by former conservative army officers opposed to President Romulo Betancourt, the government says.

The FALN engaged in attacks and sabotage against government and business installations with daily regularity until they offered a truce last month in an attempt to win re-instatement of the Venezuelan Communist party. Betancourt was adamant against letting Communists participate in presidential elections in November.

The attack Wednesday night was the first since the FALN's peace offer.

A U.S. spokesman said the mission had received numerous anonymous telephone threats that it was marked for destruction because it helps train the Venezuelan armed forces.

Coin Club Showing Set June 22-23

The Central Missouri Coin Club will hold its annual coin show in the new air-conditioned Agriculture Building at the Missouri State Fairgrounds Saturday and Sunday, June 22-23, according to President Lloyd Phillips, Vice-President Cecil Schick, and Secretary Harold Garrett, who with other club members are perfecting plans for the event.

The first show, sponsored by the local club, was held one year ago and was such a success that it was decided to make it an annual affair to give the people of Sedalia and surrounding territory an opportunity to see large and varied displays of coins along with an opportunity to buy, sell or trade coins.

Twenty-five dealers, from various parts of the country will have bourse tables and displays of their coins.

Show hours will be from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. on Saturday and 10 a. m. until 6 p. m. on Sunday.

An auction of over 150 lots of copper, silver and gold coins will be held on Saturday night, starting at 7 p. m. The public is invited to bid on any coin or coins, which will be sold to the high bidder. The coins to be sold in the auction will be on display all day Saturday.

There is no admission charge or registration fee of any kind to attend this show.

Meeting to Promote Jobs for Negroes Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—A five-state regional conference to promote jobs for Negroes will be held in St. Louis on June 26, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson announced today.

Johnson, who is chairman of the President's committee on equal employment opportunity said community leaders are being invited from Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Tennessee.

Johnson said the purposes are to obtain community support and to inform leaders about new job opportunities for Negroes resulting from President Kennedy's order barring job discrimination in employment by the government and by government contractors.

Republican Senators To Push Rights

Remain Mute On Crushing Southern GOP Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican senators have promised to support additional civil rights legislation. But they remained mute on whether they would try to crush a Southern filibuster.

The Republican position was hammered out Wednesday at the second of two conferences promoted by Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, an ardent supporter of civil rights legislation.

No agreement was reached at the initial two-hour meeting. Then, at the end of a three-hour session in late afternoon, the Republicans approved a statement saying they will "support further appropriate legislation required to help solve the problems of our nation in the field of civil rights."

Not all the 33 Republican senators attended the closed meetings—the exact number present could not be determined—and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the conference, said there was some division on adopting the statement.

"I couldn't say it was unanimous," he said, "but I can truthfully say I am confident the ayes carried it."

Approved by voice vote, the policy statement is not binding on the GOP senators, he said.

The Republicans did not examine the question of whether they should try to crush the filibuster. Dixie forces likely would set up in an effort to block new civil rights legislation.

Without substantial Republican support, northern Democrats would be powerless to beat back the Southerners since a two-thirds majority of senators voting is needed to invoke cloture.

The Democratic Kennedy administration is known to be preparing a civil rights package, and Javits had urged his GOP colleagues to "go down the line for civil rights legislation in this session of Congress."

County School Superintendent Bill Passes

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A bill to let voters in about 54 counties abolish the office of county school superintendent was passed by the Senate today.

The vote sending it to the House was 18-10. The House killed a similar bill without the local option provision earlier.

Under the measure sponsored by Sen. John E. Downs, D-St. Joseph, counties with only one or two common school districts would have the issue on their primary election ballots and voters could decide whether they wanted to keep the office.

County superintendents in counties where all or most of the school districts are reorganized have only paper duties and the last two governors have declined to fill vacancies in such counties when they occurred.

The House revived and passed a bill to expand the manpower training program.

It also sent to the Senate a revised version of a bill to set up a court of the judiciary to pass on the qualifications of judges.

The House also learned officially that the governor's bill to set up a system of chemical tests to determine a driver's sobriety is dead. Rep. Lynn Ewing, D-Vernon County, chairman, reported his Judiciary Committee had killed the bill.

Fortune Teller Makes Wrong Prediction

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Helen Marx appeared in court Tuesday on a charge of fortune telling. Detective Lorraine Geders testified that Miss Marx accepted $12 to forecast her future.

Miss Marx denied the charge and predicted Judge Rodney Weiss would acquit her. "I'm sorry to disappoint her," Judge Weiss said. "One hundred dollars and costs."

Tax Cut May Be Lost In New Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Against a sea of proposed and forthcoming tax increases, President Kennedy's proposed tax cut may appear to the taxpayer to be getting smaller and smaller and in danger of being swallowed up.

As a sign of how the tides are running, last week the congressman most responsible for the progress of the tax cut legislation introduced a tax-raising bill as well.

If the Social Security tax hike proposed by Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee becomes law, it would soak up some of the funds a general tax cut would leave in private hands. Also, there are built-in Social Security tax increases, one that became effective this year, others coming.

If health care for the aged under Social Security is ever enacted, it would mean another tax increase.

And state and local levies keep going up.

Taken all together, do these ins and outs of tax law add up to a net break for the taxpayer or not?

The answer appears to be that if all present trends continue and all pending legislation is adopted, the average citizen will come out ahead, but not by anything like the full $10-billion federal tax reduction the President advocates to stimulate the economy.

Here are some estimates: The Jan. 1, 1963, Social Security tax increase, long provided for in existing law, is expected to take a bit more than $2 billion in payments by employers and employees this year.

If the further increase proposed by Mills is enacted to ward off a feared deficiency in the disability benefit fund of Social Security, it will cost about $500 million more in its first full year. It would apply payroll taxes to the first $5,400, instead of $4,800, of earnings.

Another automatic Social Security tax increase comes Jan. 1, 1966, and another one two years later. If the economy continues to grow, each of these will cost something more than $2 billion since they will be levied on a bigger base.

But by the same token, reduced rates on income such as Kennedy proposes would amount to a bigger than $10-billion tax cut in future years because they, too, would apply to a bigger base.

Airliners to Fly Over Cuban Soil

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department announced today that U.S. commercial airliners will be allowed to fly over Cuba for the first time since the October missile crisis.

The United States had imposed restrictions on flights by U.S. airlines at that time. Cuba never formally acted to bar the flights. The department noted that airlines of other countries have been flying across Cuba for the past several months without incident.

Disturbance Nets Jail Terms for 5

An altercation, which started about 11:15 p.m. Wednesday night near the Osage Bowman's archery range south of the city near Flat Creek and continued with a disturbance in Sedalia, brought city jail sentences to five youths Thursday morning in Police Court.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Coutts was the first law officer to go to the scene south of town and he was joined later by Sheriff Emmett Fairfax.

The trouble originated, the sheriff said, when approximately 25 youths and young men congregated on a gravel road east of the Waterworks Road and were standing in the road when a truck driven by Earl Paxton, 510 East 24th, approached. Paxton had his family with him and did not stop.

It was brought out in testimony in Police Court Thursday morning that some of the group boarded a car and followed Paxton's truck. A short distance later Paxton stopped his vehicle. Paxton told Sheriff Emmett Fairfax he then met one of the youths, identified by the sheriff's department as John DeJarnette, 19, 636 East Broadway, coming from the stopped car.

Paxton said he struck the DeJarnette boy in the face with his fist. The blow knocked out a tooth and damaged others, Fairfax said. DeJarnette was taken to Bothwell Hospital for treatment, but did not remain there.

After the incident in the county some of the boys followed Paxton and his family into Sedalia. Paxton filed complaints against six of them for creating a disturbance in the vicinity of his home after they were picked up and arrested by Sedalia Police officers. They were held overnight in the city jail.

Appearing in court before Judge U. L. Howerton Thursday morning the boys related they were at the Broadway Drive-In, Broadway and Thompson, late Wednesday night when in the words of one of the youths: "Somebody said there was action at Knuckle Hill. So we cut out and went out there to watch," he said.

But, the youths related, the fight did not materialize and that the group was standing in the road when the Paxton vehicle approached.

Judge Howerton found five persons guilty.

East German Guards Harass Autobahn

BERLIN (AP)—Border guards of Communist East Germany today intensified their harassment of traffic on the autobahn linking West Germany with West Berlin.

In addition to delaying traffic leaving the isolated city, the Communists tightened controls of vehicles coming from West Germany.

Tactics of alternately tightening and relaxing checks, which were started Wednesday, again were being applied, West Berlin customs officials reported. Only outgoing traffic was affected Wednesday.

Western authorities said the motive for the harassment still is unclear.

2nd Negro Enrolls At Ole Miss

Cleve McDowell To Class Today Without Mishap

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Cleve McDowell, unaccompanied, went to his first class at the University of Mississippi today.

The 21-year-old Negro, second of his race ever knowingly admitted at Ole Miss, registered Wednesday without incident for the summer session in law school.

James H. Meredith, the other Negro, planned to register for the summer session—his final term—during the day. He delayed his registration to remain in Jackson for what he termed urgent personal business.

There were no incidents, and no federal marshals nearby, when he went to class.

McDowell arrived on the campus by car Wednesday with three marshals for his registration.

Police and soldiers were at alert as the smiling McDowell went through routine registration and entrance requirements.

All went smoothly after Gov. Ross R. Barnett told a television audience that McDowell was to be accepted only because Mississippi couldn't whip the U.S. Army.

"It would be unwise and futile," said the governor, who had unsuccessfully attempted to block Meredith's admission last fall.

"We have done everything in our power to prevent the enrollment of Cleve McDowell in the university law school," said Barnett. "His entry is in violation of the laws of the state and is contrary to the wishes and order of the Board of Trustees, of the institutions of higher learning and the governor and the people."

"I have not heard one rude remark," McDowell, wearing a checked sports jacket and a new thin mustache, told a press conference after he was registered. "I think this registration was carried out quite well," he added. "There is evidence someone did a lot of work."

McDowell paid fees totaling $179 with a $500 check from the Utility Club, Inc., of New York City. The club was not further identified.

Former Sedalia Youth Is Held In Murder Case

A former Sedalia youth is held for investigation in connection with a murder-rape case in San Jose, California, which allegedly took place Tuesday night. The youth was identified by San Jose Chief of Detectives Barton L. Collins as Gilbert Thompson, 16 years old, who was born in Sedalia.

The victim was identified as Mrs. Mary Stackhouse, 30, mother of six children. Mrs. Stackhouse's husband is a Chief Petty Officer in the Navy temporarily assigned to Memphis, Tenn., in a Navy school.

Chief Collins was quoted as saying the youth slashed the victim's throat and then raped the body. He was also quoted as saying the incident was possibly triggered by damage done to the Stackhouse lawn by a dog owned by Thompson.

According to Collins the youth had a previous record dating back to 1955 and was recently discharged from the army for falsifying his age to enlist in the army.

The information was received in Sedalia late Wednesday night from the Associated Press.

Thursday morning the Pettis County Recorder's office received a telegram request from Robert E. Nino, chief juvenile probation officer of San Jose, Calif., asking verification of Thompson's birth.

The recorder's office does not keep birth information, but a deputy Mrs. Naomi Brown checked with Mrs. Lynn Shelby, who is state registrar here.

Mrs. Shelby's records revealed Thompson was born here Sept. 8, 1946 at Bothwell Hospital. His parents were David Bern Thompson and Emma Louise Burk Thompson. The records listed his father as being from Hattiesburg, Miss., and his mother from Sedalia. The family was residing at 1830 South Beacon at the time of the boy's birth.

Effects Of Cigarettes Ruling Made

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Under Florida law, cigarette manufacturers are responsible for any harmful effects of their products on the human body, the State Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The court said manufacturers were liable for damages whether or not by human skill and foresight they were able to determine the long-range effect of use of their products.

The opinion answered a request of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans, La., for interpretation of the provisions of Florida law regarding the implied warranty of manufacturers and distributors.

The appeals court granted a rehearing of a suit by the late Ed Green of Miami against the American Tobacco Co., charging he contracted lung cancer by smoking Lucky Strike cigarettes.

The U.S. District Court in Miami cleared the American Tobacco Co. of responsibility and the appeals court upheld the decision.

Green's widow, Mary, sought a rehearing, and the appeals court asked the State Supreme Court for the controlling provisions of Florida law for guidance in hearing the second appeal.

Justice E. Harris Drew wrote that Florida law imposed upon the American Tobacco Co. absolute liability for breach of implied warranty in the death of Green, even though the company could not have known whether lung cancer could result from smoking its cigarettes.

The court said it assumed from the jury verdict in the Green case that, although the company was cleared of responsibility, Green's fatal case of lung cancer was caused by smoking Lucky Strike cigarettes.

Note Affects Lunatic Could Cast On US

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House document noted today that at joint sessions of Congress "one lunatic with a hand grenade could plunge our nation into chaos."

That observation was made by Rep. Charles S. Joelson, D-N.J., a member of the Appropriations Committee, and was made public by the committee in its printed report accompanying the annual legislative money bill.

"I get very nervous" at such sessions, Joelson commented.

He referred to the customary presence at joint sessions of "the entire chain of succession" to the presidency.

At each annual joint session when the President delivers his State of the Union message, the House chamber audience includes the vice president, the speaker of the House, the president pro tempore of the Senate and most cabinet officers. They constitute the entire line of succession.

The vice president and the speaker sit directly behind the President, while the cabinet members sit nearby in front of him.

They are in "pretty close proximity," commented Rep. Walt Horan, R-Wash. "You may have noticed that seldom, if ever, do all of the cabinet members show up for joint sessions. At least one of them usually stays downtown. Perhaps they have thought about this possibility," said a House official who declined use of his name.

System to Link Nations As War Prevention Step

GENEVA (AP)—U. S. and Soviet negotiators have agreed on all technical details of a hotline teletype writer circuit between Washington and Moscow, disarmament conference sources said today.

The agreement was reached after 18 private meetings of American and Soviet telecommunication experts between May 6 and June 4.

Conference sources said the U.S. government has approved the agreement, but formal approval from the Soviet government still is awaited.

The agreement provides for a permanent teletype writer cable linking the American and Soviet governments. It will be used for emergency contacts to prevent a possible outbreak of war by accident or miscommunication.

The cable connection will run from Moscow through Helsinki, Finland; Stockholm, Sweden, and London into Washington. Sending and reception would be by automatic typewriters. There will also be a radio circuit available for use if the cable connection breaks down.

In Washington, the line will almost certainly terminate in the Defense Department, from where an extension could be connected with the White House on short notice if Kennedy wished. Informants said that the Moscow terminal is strictly up to the Russians. But authorities here have assumed that the line would terminate in the Soviet Defense Ministry with the possibility of a Kremlin extension.

Points still subject to final decision include confirmation of the division of costs and the kind of signals which would be used to distinguish, for example, between a routine service message between operators and an important exchange between Kennedy and Khrushchev.

The United States proposed the line in the course of disarmament negotiations at Geneva. The purpose was to provide the President and the Soviet premier with communications as instantaneous as possible so that they might be able to act quickly in some grave war-threatening crisis such as the Cuban affair of last fall.

Manned Mars Shot Seen Around 1975

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A new generation of superrockets, capable of lifting a "convoy" of four million spaceships into orbit, could be ready for a manned expedition to Mars in 1975 if the nation decided to make a try then, an industrial space technologist said Thursday.

The rockets, far surpassing anything the United States and presumably even the Soviet Union, now has or is developing, would each range up to 300 ft. in height, weigh up to nearly 40 million pounds, pack thrusts up to 56 million pounds, and be capable of lofting more than a million pounds of payload at a time into earth orbit for a subsequent getaway on the highway to Mars.

Andrew Kalitinsky of the General Dynamics Corp., San Diego, Calif., told about it in making his first report on a government commissioned study to explore possibilities for developing so-called NOVA launch vehicles.

NOVA has long been a concept in the minds of space engineers. Conceived as a possible good bet for manned planetary missions, it would call for a rocket that would make even the Saturn 5 man-to-moon rocket look puny. The Saturn 5 will pack a 7½-million pound thrust.

Kalitinsky reported to a symposium on "the exploration of Mars" that his firm and the Martin-Marietta Corp. of Baltimore have lately come up with some design configurations that look very promising towards achieving practical "hardware" in a relatively short time, if need be.

Saying these particular configurations would be based on rocket technology already at hand or under development, he declared the development of such gigantic vehicles "could be started immediately, with a high degree of confidence in achieving the predicted operational characteristics, if a decision to try for an early Mars mission, say in 1975, was made in the near future."

Water Supply Report To Works Board

Study Four Plans To Extend City's Present Supply

The Board of Public Works at its regular meeting Wednesday night heard a preliminary engineering report on four plans being investigated to extend Sedalia's water supply.

A representative of the Black & Veatch consulting engineers firm in Kansas City appeared before the board and presented findings in regard to reservoirs on Spring Fork Creek, Flat Creek, piping of water from the future Kaysinger Dam near Warsaw and further addition of wells to supplement present water supplies.

Black & Veatch told the board the preliminary report showed the reservoir plans appeared to be the best solution. Costs of piping water from the Kaysinger Dam were pointed out as prohibitive and pumping costs for additional wells would continue to rise through the years.

Board members noted Sedalia's water supply at present is adequate for needs, but that the surplus leeway is too small to be healthy in attracting industry. One of the proposed reservoirs would provide this surplus and lighten the load on present supply sources.

Black & Veatch said the preliminary report fortunately revealed both the Spring Fork Creek and Flat Creek reservoir proposals were feasible and that the board is offered a choice.

A final report on the engineering study by Black & Veatch is expected in approximately two weeks, the firm's representative said.

The board, however, will defer action on the findings until their triennial report is received in mid-July. This report will reveal how much funds are available for the expanded water supply proposals.

Board members hope the reservoir proposal could be started in 1965. Much of the reservoir proposal, including the finances, is only in the talking stages, but the preliminary report provided concrete findings to proceed with. The final report in the next few weeks would map what could be done.

The board was informed by a letter from C. E. Klamm, district State Highway Commission engineer, to proceed with engineering (please turn to page 5, column 2)

Teen-agers Boost List On Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—A flood of teen-agers looking for jobs boosted total unemployment in May up two-tenths of one per cent to 5.9 per cent. Total employment also was up one million over April to 69.1 million.

Unemployment among teen-agers climbed from 16 per cent in April to 18 per cent in May. This was the highest jobless level for teen-agers since the Bureau of Labor Statistics began keeping figures on a seasonal basis in 1949.

The total unemployment figure in May remained at the same 4.1 million level it held in April, but was 350,000 over May 1962.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, in a statement released today with the figures, said the figures reflect a critical situation, a situation which could develop into one of the most explosive social problems in the nation's history. The teen-age unemployment problem, Wirtz said, "is complicated by the big increase in population in this age group, and the declining number of unskilled jobs in today's labor market."

Neil Chapman, New President

Lions Club Installs New Officers for Coming Year

The Sedalia Lions Club, Wednesday night, held its annual installation of officers for the fiscal year of 1963-64 at which time C. J. Neil Chapman was installed as president, succeeding James L. Van Wagner Jr. The speaker for the evening was E. C. House, a public relations director of, Kansas City, who used as his topic, "Community Building and Human Relations."

The speaker who has been in this type of business for more than 50 years, and himself 80-years-old, was dynamic in his talk to the Lions, their wives and guests in the needs in building a community. He was introduced by Thomas P. Baker, chairman of the program.

In his talk he brought out that "good streets, clean alleys, new store buildings and fronts, schools, churches, hospitals, libraries and recreation are nothing more than products and a factor necessary to build a community. But one of the most important factors in community building are the individual citizens as they affect other people."

"The affect on other people by your citizens is always important in building or causing a city to deteriorate. This I have found in my more than 50 years of crossing back and forth through these United States have played a big factor in building or tearing down," he said. He pointed out several towns in which its citizenry did the latter because of their complacent attitude made ghost towns out of their own communities.

"The morale and character vision of a community has a lot to do with attracting industry," House said, "and my visits to Sedalia are such, Sedalia rates very good along these lines. Spirit of gratitude is something else to be considered and I find you do have it here. Character must be sound. Personality is a definite second factor."

Continuing he said, "A positive attitude is important, not a defeatist attitude of the clerks and other employees in the many stores and firms. Self confidence, courtesy and tact is something more which is considered."

In closing he brought out he had met three people who have had little to say for the Chamber of Commerce, which reminded him of a story. "A little boy and his mother met another lady and the two visited and visited and finally the lady with a sack of groceries handed the child an orange. The mother said to her son, 'what do you say?' Whereupon the child shoved his hand out to the lady with the groceries who took the orange and he said 'peel it.' That is ingratitude and that is what those people are. They expect the Chamber of Commerce to create miracles, they have already provided some industry in which they work, but they show their gratitude for making it possible for them to make a living by their ingratitude toward the organization which helped them. Your Chamber of Commerce is an important factor in your progress, just as many other facts I have discussed. I say to you Sedalians show your 'spirit of gratitude' in meeting your fellow men and help build your community."

The installation program then followed with President Van Wagner giving the annual report of the club activities during the past year. He pointed out the final project of his administration would come next week, June 11 and 12, at which time the annual Broom Sale will be held to help raise funds for the Lions blind and other charitable activities. He expressed the hope the project would clear at least $500 for the club fund.

Kenneth Leslie, past president, presented various attendance awards. The awards as follows: one-year perfect attendance, President-elect Chapman, William Keim and John Mais; two-years, Garry Cox, Don Buller and J. C. "Chuck" Finley; four years, Robert "Bob" Moore; five years, William O. "Bill" Hiatt, past-president; six years, Robert M. "Bob" Overstreet; seven years, James P. Atkinson; 10 years, Thomas P. Baker, past-president; 12 years, Don King and Al Domingue; 13 years, Dr. F. I. Lawrence; President Van Wagner; 14 years, International Counselor E. B. Smith; 16 years, Robert Cunningham; 17 years, James E. McNeil; and 18 years, International Counselor D. Kelly Scruton.

Monarch awards for membership were presented by Leslie. The 10-year Monarch certificate and pin to Ray Brueckner, Harry Goldberg, Phillip Pfeiffer and Don Weller; 15-year Monarch to Bob Moore and Everett Stevenson.

A plaque for outstanding service to his club was presented to William O. Hiatt, who incidentally was presented a similar award by the Chamber of Commerce recently.

President Van Wagner received a 13-year perfect attendance tab was presented by President Van Wagner to Kenneth Leslie.

Elmo Triplett was inducted into the club as a new member, the induction being conducted by International Counselor Scruton, who presented him with his membership pin.

International Counselor Smith then took charge of the formal installation. Installed were: Dr. Chester Kirkpatrick and Thomas P. Baker, members of the board of directors; Lion Tamer, Charles Jarrett; treasurer, Robert Cunningham; secretary, Gary Cox; third vice-president, J. C. Finley, and first vice-president, James E. McNeil. Two officers were not present, Walter Diehl, tail twister, and Dr. O. J. Durnell, second vice-president.

Frances Herndon sang, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," accompanied by Mrs. Roy Pulliam at the organ. Mrs. Herndon also sang, "My Task," following the installation.

Following his installation by Smith, President Chapman expressed his appreciation to the club for his elevation to the presidency, and urged continued cooperation of its members.

Prior to the installation, Smith paid tribute to the late Cline Cain, "Cline was the dean of Lionism in Sedalia for many years and installed our officers with dignity. I only hope I can do half as well."

Guests at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Boyle, Mr. Boyle is manager of the Chamber of Commerce, H. W. Harris, president of the Third National Bank, and director of the chamber in charge of industry; and President-elect Harry W. Walch, of the Rotary Club.

President Van Wagner called attention to the beautiful silver bell decorated with Lions emblems. He explained the bell was being taken to the International Convention this month by Counselor Scruton, as Sedalia's boost for a resolution being presented to International in behalf of the nationwide program, "Make Freedom Really Ring," endorsed by the Sedalia Club, the first civic organization to take that step.

He expressed appreciation to those who made the bell possible: Fire Chief Emmett Vaught for the bell; James Jolly of the Jolly Welding Co., for providing the iron support for the bell; Steam-O-Matic Corp., whose employees Ernie Buso for making ready the iron support and bracket which was then chrome plated by Ed Worley; also Eschbacher and Sons for the base, and Sedalia Lumber Co., for base materials and chrome stripping.

Closing, President Van Wagner pointed out the Sedalia resolution was the first passed by a civic club and the Multiple District 26, Missouri Lions, the first to endorse it as a state group. "We hope the resolution will be carried on by International at its convention in Miami Beach, Fla., June 19-22."

Ann Landers

Answers
Your Problems

My son, who is 29 years old, makes his home with me. He is attractive, well built, has an excellent professional rating, makes about $18,000 a year, and he has the first dime he ever earned. If I didn't throw out his old shoes and suits he'd wear them till they fell apart. He will not take out a girl because it costs money. He has invited a few girls to the house for dinner, but that's as far as he goes.

For Christmas, Mother's Day and my birthday he gives me a check because, according to him, 'You can't beat money.' I don't know how he got so dollar-crazy. His father was never like that, and heaven knows I am not.

He has few friends because he doesn't want to go any place that costs money. I am heartsick that he is missing out on so much that is worthwhile and interesting. He won't even take a trip, although I know he has $43,000 in the bank. What can I do?—HIS MOTHER.

Dear Mother: He needs professional help but of course he won't get it because it would cost something.

Ask him which relatives or charities he wants to leave his money to. Your question may jar him into realizing that if he doesn't enjoy his hard-earned loot, someone else will.

Dear Ann Landers: I can't sign my name to this because if the fellows over heard I wrote to Ann Landers they would die laughing.

I had seven dates with a nice girl. We got along great, and she was a perfect lady. The other night a gang of fellows were talking about girls, and there was plenty of bragging. I didn't want to be the only guy who didn't have something to brag about. So I said a few things about this girl which were not true.

Well, her best friend's brother was in the crowd, only I didn't dig the connection till later. He went back and blabbed everything. She passed the information on to the girl. Yesterday at school the girl said she never wanted to see me again.

I am sick about this and want to square things. What can I do?—HATE MYSELF.

Dear Hate Myself: You've had it, Buster, and it couldn't have happened to a bigger louse.

Your chances for squaring things are mighty slim, but go to each of the guys and admit you lied. The word may sift back to her and perhaps she'll forgive you.

Dear Ann Landers: I am going to a very important party in a few weeks with an awfully nice boy. I am worried about something, and if you could settle it I'm sure I would have peace of mind.

This boy who asked me isn't very sophisticated and I'm afraid he won't buy me a corsage. I will feel uncomfortable without one because all the girls expect it.

I have an artificial flower which I could wear in case I don't get a live corsage. Would this be right or wrong?—MISS IN QUESTION.

Dear Miss In Question: The artificial flower is out. If your date doesn't bring a corsage, say nothing and for heaven's sake don't allow it to spoil your good time. One measure of maturity is the ability to overlook things which are not important—and a good test is to ask this question, "Will it matter three months from now?"

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

plans for the relocation of water mains and services along the right-of-way of Urban Plan highway work on East Broadway.

Klamm told the board the contract for the highway relocation project is scheduled for letting early in 1964. The date for the letting is believed to be set for Feb. 15, 1964, however Klamm's letter set the time as only early in the year.

Under the project East Broadway Avenue (Highway 50) will be widened in accordance with West Broadway. The relocation project will take traffic from New York Avenue east to Marshall Avenue where the route will veer diagonally and join east Highway 50 near the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks.

The board also received a report on its annual audit from the firm of Haskins & Sells, certified public accountants of Kansas City. The accounting firm lauded the board for its showing in the audit.

In other action the board approved the purchase of a used 1956 Chevrolet truck for the Water Department from Thompson-Greer Motor Co. at a cost of $2100.

Office manager Taylor recommended an increase in residential water deposits from $10 to $15 and an increase for service stations from $20 to $25. These deposit increases were approved by the board.

A bid of $780 from the Walker Publishing Co. for the printing of 120,000 billing cards was approved. There were two other bids.

Progress on the new well being drilled on the Spring Fork flow line on the Catholic Community Center road, well No. 13, was reported at the 935-foot level at noon Wednesday. Drillers are making about 25 to 35 feet per day, the board was told.

Hints for Happy Holidays

(2) Rules of the Road

Before starting on your trip, be sure the car and its passengers are ready and in good condition. Install seat belts—and use them! Check gas, oil, tires, brakes, lights, horn, engine, radiator, muffler, steering, fan belt, windshield wipers and defroster. Carry a first-aid book and kit, plus a flashlight—and, of course, spare tire and jack.

Make children ride in the back seat—and enforce rule that there will be no hands out window, on door handles, wheel, ignition key, lights or driver. (For extra insurance, install—and use—safety door latches.) Keep kids occupied with games and toys.

Alternate drivers, if possible, and stop traveling while it's still daylight—and before the driver is tired or drowsy.

Don't try to drive too far in a day. Stop and rest several times a day. Stop for the night before it gets dark or you get tired.

Slight damage resulted at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in Benton County on Route F, one-tenth of a mile south of Highway 32, when a 1954 Chevrolet sedan, driven west by Clarence Morris, 60, Cole Camp, and a 1956 Ford tractor and trailer, driven north and turning west from an alley onto Route F, collided. Driver of the tractor and trailer was Robert Hagenhoff, 22, Meta.

No injuries resulted. The vehicles were released to the drivers.

A Missouri-Kansas-Texas freight train completely demolished a 1951 Ford truck at 8:50 a.m. Thursday on Highway 135 in Cooper County, two miles west of the junction of E and 135. The truck, traveling east, driven by Allen Alfred Knowles, 44, Goddard, Kan., collided with the train, engineered by Clyde Lester Maupin, 73, New Franklin. The train was going south.

Trooper J. T. Russell, Missouri State Highway Patrol, Troop F, Jefferson City, who worked the accident, stated Knowles failed to see the train in time.

The truck, owned by ITT Kellogg, hit the front of the diesel on the right side. The car was knocked 45 feet into a ditch and the motor flew 67 feet over to the other side of the road. Damage to the train was estimated at $200.

Knowles was taken to Bothwell Hospital, where he was treated by Doctor J. W. Beger for lacerations and abrasions of the face, head and hands. A three inch cut on the right side of the scalp required stitches. Knowles was released.

An official of the Landon School for Boys in suburban Bethesda, Md., disclosed Saturday that Kennedy had applied for admission for the three boys and that Robert Jr., 9, had gone so far as to take the school's entrance test. The examinations for Joseph, 10, and David, 7, were put off because of mumps, he said.

Landon's headmaster said the school has no Negro pupils but does have a policy against barring any boy because of race or religion. The boarding school, he said, has a long waiting list and bases admission on competitive examinations.

A spokesman for the attorney general said Wednesday the Kennedys haven't made up their minds about where the boys will be enrolled but that Landon is no longer under consideration.

No Frustrations for Bright Comedienne Nan Fabray

NEW YORK (AP)—It is accepted as show business gospel that in every comedian beats the heart of a hidden Hamlet.

But Nanette Fabray, one of the blithest comedienne of our day, harbors no frustrated hopes of playing Lady MacBeth. No tragic tears for her, thank you.

"I adore light comedy," said Nan, who is winding up a nine-month role as First Lady in Irving Berlin's Broadway musical, "Mr. President," in which she is costarred with Robert Ryan.

"The only thing is that musical comedy is looked down on as a second-class citizen in the performing arts. Drama is considered the grand lady, the matriarch of the theatrical world."

"Actually, I've found that most musical comedy performers can do a good job in drama. Look at Gertrude Lawrence, Mary Martin, Red Buttons. But the step the other way is rare."

"In the theater you have to start with drama. You can graduate to comedy only if you're well-trained. To me, comedy is the highest form of theatrical endeavor, requiring more understanding and a better sense of timing."

Nan, who started as a tap dancer at the age of 3, played in the old "Our Gang" comedies, and learned mimicry from that cross-eyed master of the silent screen, Ben Turpin.

After growing up, however, she switched to ingenue roles in dramatic plays. It was producer George Abbott who advised her to return to light comedy in "High Button Shoes."

Miss Fabray went through an emotional ordeal a few years back, complicated by a divorce, career crises, and fear of encroaching deafness.

Today all those troubles have melted away. Nan is profoundly happy with her second husband, screenwriter Ronald MacDougall, and their 4-year-old son, Jamie.

"Because of my hearing loss," she recalled, "I used to try to make people adjust to my world."

The boys now attend Our Lady of Victory, an integrated Roman Catholic school in the District of Columbia.

An official of the Landon School for Boys in suburban Bethesda, Md., disclosed Saturday that Kennedy had applied for admission for the three boys and that Robert Jr., 9, had gone so far as to take the school's entrance test. The examinations for Joseph, 10, and David, 7, were put off because of mumps, he said.

Landon's headmaster said the school has no Negro pupils but does have a policy against barring any boy because of race or religion. The boarding school, he said, has a long waiting list and bases admission on competitive examinations.

A spokesman for the attorney general said Wednesday the Kennedys haven't made up their minds about where the boys will be enrolled but that Landon is no longer under consideration.

CATHEDRAL SHELTER: The crypts beneath Washington (Episcopal) Cathedral where lie some of the nation's most honored dead have been equipped with fallout shelter supplies.

Millionth Mourner By Pope's Body

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The millionth mourner passed by the body of Pope John XXIII today and still the human wave rolled through the vastness of St. Peter's Basilica.

Almost a million more were expected to pay tribute before the candle-lit catafalque under the massive basilica dome before Pope John's body is placed in a crypt below the basilica floor to night.

Meanwhile, the church's cardinals were arriving for the final rites and the June 19 conclave that will elect a successor.

The College of Cardinals decreed Wednesday that a nine-day formal mourning period for Pope John will start Friday and end June 17. It will be broken for Sunday June 9 and for the Corpus Christi feast day June 13.

Funeral Masses on the first six days will be said in St. Peter's Basilica by canons of the church. On the last three days the Masses will be celebrated by cardinals.

The cardinals will attend a Mass of the Holy Ghost June 19, then go into conclave at sunset in the Sistine Chapel. Voting will begin June 20. The cardinals will cast four ballots daily in the locked chapel until two-thirds agree on a new Pope.

About 80 of the 82 cardinals are expected to be on hand for the conclave, the greatest number ever assembled to elect a Pope. When Pope John was elected in 1958, 52 cardinals took part in the balloting.

One absentee probably will be Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, still in refuge in the U.S. legation in Budapest. One or two others cardinals may be too ill to travel.

Church leaders and statesmen from both sides of the Iron Curtain will attend the final funeral services.

President Kennedy named Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, a Protestant, and three others to represent the United States.

How to Prepare

The Charcoal Fire
Place dry sand, gravel or aluminum foil in the bottom of the fire box.

Place charcoal in the fire box. Two to three pounds is sufficient for the average grill.

Soak the charcoal with charcoal lighter fluid and light with a match. No lighter fluid is required when an electric lighter is used. Never use fuel oil, kerosene or gasoline.

Allow charcoal to burn 30 minutes or until about two-thirds covered with gray ash before placing meat on the grill.

One firing of charcoal should last for 1 to 2 hours cooking. For meats that need longer cooking periods, add additional charcoal as needed.

Spread coals  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch apart in the fire box before placing meat on the grill. When using the rotisserie, leave coals in pile.

under the hood (rather than spread them out under the meat.)

How to Charcoal Broil

Remove meat from refrigerator long enough ahead of time for it to reach room temperature before you place it on the grill.

To prevent steaks and chops from curling while they are broiling, score or slit the fat on the edges at about 1- $\frac{1}{2}$  inch intervals before you place them on the grill.

Place 1- $\frac{1}{2}$  to 1-inch thick cuts of meat 3 inches or more above the coals. Thicker cuts should be farther from the heat. As a guide for determining the degree of heat you should be able to hold your hand in the position of the meat for 3-5 seconds.

Broil until bottom side is browned. Turn with tongs or spatula and season with salt and pepper.

Pricking with a fork allows loss of meat juices. Turn steaks and chops only once. Barbecue sauce may be added to cooked side.

Continue broiling until as well done as desired. Check by making a small slit in the meat and checking the color.

A hood on the grill speeds up cooking by protecting steaks and chops from cool breezes which tend to cool the top side.

Season and serve hot. Additional barbecue sauce may be added.

Other information concerning outdoor meat cookery may be found in Folder 39 "Outdoor Meat Cookery." Copies are available at the University Extension Center, 605 S. Massachusetts.

What Makes Jelly Jell

Pectin is necessary to make the fruit juices jell. It is carbohydrate, found in all fruits chiefly near the skin, in the core and around the seeds. Pectin is most abundant in slightly underripe fruit and is diluted in fruit in a rainy season.

Heat is necessary to release the pectin from the fruit tissue, but over-cooking will destroy it — especially in very acid fruit. Sugar tends to prevent the extraction of pectin.

Commercial fruit pectin, a concentrate made from apples or citrus fruit, is a modern aid to successful jam and jelly making. Two types are on the market — the liquid and the powdered.

With its use, you can use all fully ripe fruit, full of natural flavor, instead of having to use a portion of underripe fruit for its pectin content. Too, the length of cooking time is much shorter when commercial pectin is used.

Acids are found in all fruits and vary in kind and amounts in different fruits. As with pectin, the acid content changes during the growth and ripening. The fully ripe fruit has less acid and pectin than the slightly underripe. Acid is necessary for the formation of jelly. An increase of acid, within limits, decreases the amount of sugar needed.

Sugar is needed to jell fruit juice. Too little sugar gives a tough jelly, but too much makes it syrupy. Whether the sugar is cane or beet is unimportant as they are the same in chemical composition.

Freezing Fish

Chill fish soon after they are caught. Freshness is absolutely necessary. Scale, dress, wash and cut them as for cooking. Small fish are usually frozen whole. Large fish are cut into round steaks or fillets (boneless strips). Dip the fish or pieces in cold water, and package. Place pieces of packaging material between the fish, or pieces of fish, to keep them from freezing together. Then freeze fish promptly. If fish are held at warm temperature, strong odors and flavors develop rapidly. Frozen fish dry out easily and make special care in packaging necessary.

Wall-to-Wall Carpet

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A classroom experiment has pupils rolling on the floor.

It began when wall-to-wall carpeting was installed recently in the kindergarten classroom of the Seymour Elementary School.

The school system is trying to determine whether carpeting is more durable and easier to maintain than other types of floor covering.

The five-year-olds apparently like the idea, according to Tamara Cohen, the kindergarten teacher.

Although the pupils said nothing when the carpet was put down, "They took it in with their bodies," she said. "They were swimming in it."

Mrs. Cohen said that her classes

What's Your Opinion?

Is organized Civil Defense something Sedalia and Pettis county want? The budget calls for $14,000. The city, the county, the federal government would share in this expenditure to keep alive an agency that functions particularly in national emergencies and disasters.

City Council and County Court members want to know what the taxpayers think about continuing expenditure of their money for Civil Defense either on a limited operation, an all out endeavor — or none at all.

An atmosphere of indifference about it seems to prevail not only in Central Missouri but elsewhere in the nation despite aggressive educational campaigns and generous publicity.

Civil Defense like displaying the American Flag on patriotic occasions seems to depend on calamities, catastrophes of war. Many persons think of civil defense as related strictly to war and nuclear attack. However, it also functions in non-military defense against natural and man-made disasters.

The storm warning system which

Sedalia now has is a tangible symbol of civil defense activity on the home front, and this should be retained.

Civil defense is expected to function also to coordinate during disasters the organizations and resources of government which already exist, such as police and fire departments, welfare and medical services, Red Cross, utilities, all forms of transportation and communication.

Civil defense has real meaning but has extreme difficulty in getting public acceptance. None doubts the need for it under emergency conditions. Improvising without previously planned procedures can, under stress, only add to confusion and chaotic conditions.

Now it is evident our public officials who provide the money for the Civil Defense activities are reluctant to continue this if there persists diminishing interest in Sedalia and Pettis county. They have appealed to the public for expressions of opinion pro or con on this subject.

So, speak up, taxpayers; let's hear from you.

We the Women

Let's Face It, Ladies—Girlhood Ends at Age 32

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When does a girl arrive at that irrevocable point in time when she steps from girlhood into womanhood?

According to one of the major airlines, the fateful day—or, to put it in the language of the airways—the point of no return is her 32nd birthday.

The airline was tactful enough not to say that when she reaches 32, a young woman can by no stretch of the imagination be considered a girl.

Nope, it merely said that by age 32 its stewardesses should find work on the ground. But it all amounts to the same thing. Stewardesses are chosen not only for beauty of face and figure and for their radiant smiles—they are especially chosen for their ability, in a ladylike way, of course, to make young men feel older and older men, younger.

Saying that a girl belongs on the ground instead of in the air by age 32 is just the same as saying that by the ripe old age of 32 that unique ability starts to dwindle.

How long a girl is a girl is a subject that is hard to find agreement on. But the airline that has decreed that 32 is the absolute limit has pretty well settled the question.

So watch it, girls. Perhaps you had better face up to the fact that the 32nd birthday is the really crucial one. It's the time to put girlhood behind. No matter how kind the mirror is, to say to yourself, "Look, honey, girlhood is behind me. I'm a woman now."

"The sooner I stop trying to talk like a girl, act like a girl, dress like a girl, think like a girl, and move on into the full and honorable estate of womanhood, the better."

'Simon Says' Workouts

By Polly Cramer
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — I have five preschool children. When I went back to my doctor for a checkup after the last baby's arrival, he said I should do a lot of exercising. I could not imagine when I would ever find time to exercise, but my five-year-old son came up with the answer.

The children love to play "Simon Says" and they like having mommy play with them. This serves two purposes: I can do all the exercises I want to and the children are entertained. — MOTHER OF FIVE

GIRLS — You need not wait to have another baby before trying this. Weight watchers could also do extra exercises while playing such a game with the children. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Each year after our vacation is over, I empty a full coffee can by cutting a slit in the top and leaving the key attached to the bottom. Every time I save on a food special I put the savings into the can. When vacation time rolls around again, I open the can with the key and have most of the change needed for the trip. — MRS. R.H.D.

GIRLS — Mrs. R.H.D.'s way of eliminating temptation by keeping the can sealed made me smile. How often easily available savings dwindle away. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Lots of people use leftover carpet in front of a chair or in their cars, but I found a use which also protects waxed floors. Cut pieces of carpet the same size as the bottoms of chair legs and then glue the backing side of the carpet to the bottoms of the legs. The carpet side is down and deadens noise and saves scratch marks on linoleum or tile, too. A friend also used it on the bottom of a child's toy box to protect her wood floor. — MRS. P. W. P.

DEAR POLLY — Last summer I painted an old, faded and nicked straw purse with black enamel and stapled brightly colored artificial flowers on the top. The purse drew many compliments. I will use it again this summer because this season merchants are featuring straw purses almost identical to the one I painted. — KATIE

DEAR POLLY — I find the following method is best for making hourglass curtains. Cut separate pieces for the top and bottom half of each curtain with a concave curve in the middle (or at one end of each piece) where they would be joined together. The center of the curve, plus seam allowances, would be the length of window or door and the outside edges would be longer. This permits a much tighter pull in the center and the center seam is hidden with the tieback. — MRS. C. J. W.

Radiation Increased Scientists Believe

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—American space scientist Wilmot N. Hess said Wednesday the Van Allen radiation belt surrounding the earth was increased during 1962 by three Soviet high altitude nuclear explosions in addition to the single U.S. blast.

The Soviet explosions were detected Oct. 22 and 28 and Nov. 1, Hess reported to the Space Science Symposium of "Cospar," the international committee on science research.

The Russians protested the United States high altitude blast in the Pacific last July.

All four explosions added temporarily to the radiation particles in the Van Allen belt, said Hess.

They also greatly increased man's knowledge of the lifetime of the particles and other information needed in preparation for travel to outer space, said Hess, of the Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md.

Many Things Changed By Pope John

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The man who succeeds Pope John XXIII will come to a papacy significantly changed during his reign.

To many people, Catholics and non-Catholics alike, the papacy may seem closer now.

The tradition that Popes seldom leave the Vatican has been broken. Hesitation to receive Protestant leaders has been overcome.

Pope John brought the church to grips with the 20th Century. On Nov. 4, 1958, the day he was crowned, no one dreamed of the changes that were ahead.

Then 76, the pontiff with the heavy features was appraised by many as an interim Pope. There were predictions that the papacy would remain fairly static until the emergence of a strong, vigorous, younger Pope.

Pope John at once shattered that concept, and he continued to sweep away the pieces as his reign progressed. He brought the Roman Catholic Church out of the counterreformation, carrying both dynamically into a difficult, modern world.

The major works that marked Pope John as a great Pope were his encyclicals "Mater et Magistra" and "Pacem in Terris."

The qualities that endeared him as a person were his sweeping mental grasp of humanity as a single entity and his utter unpretentiousness.

He once said that he hoped his "single and true title of honor" would always be: "He was a priest before God and before the people, a true and sincere friend of all the nations."

The humble farmer's son had a difficult time at first adjusting to the papal or imperial "We" when referring to himself in public address. He would explain to an aide that it was awkward to think of oneself in the plural, and he often reverted to "I."

"Don't interrupt me — I mean us," the Pope once joked.

The new Pope of 1958 wasted no time. One of his first acts was to announce in January, 1959, that he would call an ecumenical—or general—council of all his bishops. There had been only 20 before in history, the last in 1869-70. Pope John explained that his council would be a council of "aggiornamento"—bringing up to date—designed to help the cause of Christian unity and restore to his own church the pure lines of early centuries.

He labored hard the next four-and-a-half years to bring the project into reality. He set up an elaborate preparatory program to sound out the bishops' ideas and draw up topics.

He held consistories five times for the creation of new cardinals, raising the number from 52 to record highs of 74, 78, 85 and then 87. He brought in cardinals from distant lands where Catholicism is almost nonexistent and let every race be represented. He created the first Negro cardinal, the first Japanese.

He received 250,000 annually in huge weekly general audiences that ran twice the size of his predecessors' audiences. In private audiences he saw princes and kings, prime ministers and potentates, Protestants and atheists—including Soviet Premier Khrushchev's daughter Rada and son-in-law Alexi Adzhubel, editor of Izvestia. No other Pope had ever received such a personality from the Soviet Union.

Looking Backward

NATIONAL OBSERVER: Progress Comes Quietly. — Progress in desegregation often comes quietly, almost unnoticed sometimes in the hurly-burly of the Little Rocks, the Birmingham.

Since 1954, for instance, the number of desegregated public school districts in the South has risen from 5 to 977. Some 124 colleges and universities no longer are segregated by race; 110 Southern cities now have desegregated lunch counters, against none in 1960. Transit systems in 36 Southern cities are desegregated, compared with almost none a decade ago.

Progress in these areas does not come any less surely because it appears slow and un-dramatic.

Bolivian Boasts Friendship For U. S.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — U. S. Ambassador Ben Stephansky has been telling the State Department about a new type of political frankness which is winning admiration in Bolivia. For years it's been popular to kick Uncle Sam in the seat of the pants when you're running for political office in any Latin American country. However, former Ambassador Victor Andrade, who served as Bolivia foreign minister and longtime envoy to the United States, is employing a different tactic in running for President of Bolivia.

When Andrade returned to La Paz after giving up his Ambassadorial post in Washington, President Paz Estenssoro offered him a position in the Cabinet, or an Ambassadorial post, or a job as head of the Central Bank. But Andrade declined.

"I've been away a long time," he said. "I want to get around and be with the Bolivian people."

"I might tell you," Andrade added, "that I have a theory which some politicians who find it popular to knock the United States may not agree with. Everyone knows I am a friend of the United States and I am going to say so. Furthermore, I am convinced that the Bolivian people are fed up with hypocrisy. They know we've been supported by the United States for years and they're tired of having us kick the American people who feed us."

Andrade referred to the fact that Bolivia has usually voted against the United States or remained neutral on controversial issues before the United Nations and the OAS. Frequently Bolivia has sided with Fidel Castro, even though one third of the Bolivian budget is paid for by the United States.

Ambassador Andrade carried out his promise, made it clear he is a friend of the USA. Furthermore, after a meeting of left wing peasants was about to take place near his farm in the interior of Bolivia, he made it a point to go back to his farm and greet many of the peasant leaders. Andrade is a member of the revolutionary party which kicked out the foreign tin barons, and it was he who came to Washington and persuaded the Eisenhower administration to support the new Bolivian regime; so he can speak with conviction about both revolution and American friendship.

When the peasant leaders stopped by his ranch, Andrade told them: "My dog doesn't bite the hand that feeds him. Why should we bite the hand of the friend that feeds us? If it wasn't for the United States, you would be starving today."

Later, when the Under Secretary for Rural Affairs addressed the peasant meeting and began to criticize the United States, he was booed so vehemently that it ended the meeting. The critic of the USA finally had to walk out.

Detergent Deterrents

The battle of the soap lobbies is being fought on Capitol Hill over something the housewife uses most — detergents.

But while she runs the foamy suds through her dishes or laundry tub, public health experts are getting more and more perturbed over the amount of non-soluble foam dumped into American streams or seeping through American soil to springheads.

The situation has become so bad that Congressmen Henry Reuss, D-Wis., has introduced a bill which, two years from this month (June 30, 1965) would ban synthetic detergents which do not decompose, particularly alkylbenzene sulfonate, better known as ABS.

The big soap and detergent makers, however, are battling furiously against Reuss's bill and a companion bill introduced in the Senate.

The lobby is led by Procter and Gamble, whose chairman, Neil McElroy, was Secretary of Defense under Eisenhower, and who have employed the former White House aide under Ike, Bryce Harlow, as their Washington lobbyist. Teamed up with this giant soap combine is the British combine, Lever Brothers, which manufactures soap and detergents all the way from India to New Zealand, to say nothing of the United States.

On the other hand, the Colgate Company, manufacturers of Palmolive and various other soaps, is supporting Rep. Reuss and agrees that something must be done about detergents which will not decompose and disappear in the earth's surface.

Congressman Reuss argues that he is not against detergents as long as they don't contain the insoluble ABS.

"I am all in favor of having the housewife use the most effective kind of soap," says the congressman from Milwaukee, "but there are plenty of other soaps and detergents which are just as effective without poisoning the fish in our streams and putting foam on the drinking water that comes out of our faucets."

"The soap industry claims it is spending $5 million for research into better soap," says the congressman, who incidentally has four children and wife who does most of her own dishwashing. "That is fine. But Procter and Gamble also spends $138 million, according to Forbes Magazine, convincing the housewife that she should buy its present insoluble detergents which are continuing to pollute our streams and rivers. This $138 million spent on television and radio does not tell the housewife that they contain alkylbenzene sulfonate."

"Why shouldn't this huge advertising bill tell the whole story?"

Meanwhile West Germany has banned all detergents using ABS.

Note — Authors of the House bill banning detergents are Senators Metcalf, Mont., Neuberger, Ore., McIntyre, N. H., and Nelson, Wis., all Democrats.

Wallace Sets Stage to Play Martyr

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace has set the stage to play the martyr. That's clear, but not his reason for trying it.

Nine years ago the Supreme Court ordered public schools desegregated, ruling that "separate educational facilities are unequal."

But the court, because there are so many elementary and secondary schools and they're varying problems, allowed time for desegregating all of them.

This was when it said desegregation should proceed "with all deliberate speed." Recently the court indicated it feels the speed is much too slow.

So much for the elementary and secondary schools.

As for state colleges or universities—the court said a week ago "recognition of the need for delay" has not even been extended to them.

But the University of Alabama is a public school and it hasn't been desegregated at all. Not one school of any kind in Alabama has been desegregated.

This year a federal court, nine years after the Supreme Court's original ruling, ordered Negroes admitted next Monday to the University of Alabama.

Wallace promptly announced he would stand in the university door to block the Negroes from registering. He repeated this as late as last Sunday.

Wednesday a federal district judge, Seybourn H. Lynne, issued a stern injunction to Wallace not to interfere with the Negroes' enrollment.

It does not prevent him from going to the campus Monday nor demanding in the name of the state that the Negroes be denied enrollment.

In effect, he's free to put on an act. But the injunction warned him not to block, prevent or interfere with the entrance of the Negro students by "physically interposing his person or that of any other person under his direction or control."

If Wallace defies this injunction and is arrested and convicted of criminal contempt, he could be jailed for 10 years.

Nevertheless, a few hours after the warning from the judge, Wallace went on the air to say he would take action that "involves even my personal freedom, but I intend to carry it out, regardless of what risk I take."

He added: "What happens to George Wallace is not important but what happens to constitutional government is very important."

But how does the preservation of constitutional government jibe with what Wallace says he'll do since the Supreme Court has declared segregation unconstitutional and a federal judge ordered Alabama's university desegregated?

Last week he said that resistance to the court order is a "dramatic way to express to the American people the omnipotent march of centralized government."

Then he added this: "If I am arrested I will go peacefully. I haven't said I'd disobey a federal court order for defiance's sake but for testing."

Testing what? He said the basic constitutional question to be decided in the courts is whether Alabama could operate its school system as it has in the past or whether the courts and the federal government would, in effect, operate the system.

Both parts of this question can be answered easily:

1. The courts and the federal government, as Wallace knows, do not operate states' school systems. So this is not a real question.

2. Alabama in the past has operated segregated public schools. The Supreme Court has ruled public school segregation is unconstitutional.

So there is no constitutional question left to be tested.

The Doctor's Mailbag

B-12 Plays Control Role In Pernicious Anemia

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Since I called attention recently to methylerginate as a preventive for migraine headaches, I have had many letters from persons who said their doctor or pharmacist could find no reference to this drug. They undoubtedly know this drug by its trade name, "Sansert." It must, however, be avoided in pregnancy and can be obtained only with a doctor's prescription.

Q — I am 75. A few years ago I had pernicious anemia and lost a lot of weight. I have been taking injections of vitamin B-12 ever since. My blood count and weight are now back to normal and the interval between injections is longer. Will I have to continue these shots indefinitely? Could they cause any side effects, such as a rash on my ankles?

A — Since your blood count has returned to normal you are now getting what is called a maintenance dose of the vitamin. Your doctor will determine how much you need by making periodic checks of your blood count. Since this disease can be controlled but not cured, you should continue under your doctor's care indefinitely, since the complications of pernicious anemia when inadequately treated may be crippling.

No side effects have been reported from the use of vitamin B-12. Your rash must be due to something else.

Q — What is pneumosclerosis? What causes it? Is there any cure?

A — From its formation, the word would mean hardening of the lungs. But I am unable to find it in any medical dictionary or textbook. I can only assume, therefore, that you are referring to pneumoconiosis, caused by inhalation of silica dust over a period of years.

This would indeed cause hardening of the lungs. The condition is found chiefly in persons who work as stonecutters, sandblasters, or in some similar occupations, and who do not wear some form of respirator.

The best treatment is prevention. When the disease has become established as shown by X-ray of the chest, the victim should change his occupation.

There is no cure, and further exposure to the silica dust can only aggravate the condition.

Q — What causes multiple myeloma? What can be done for it?

A — This is a disease of unknown cause, in which tumors form in the bones, especially the ribs, vertebrae, collar bone, and skull. Pain is usually severe.

When the tumor has weakened a bone sufficiently, ordinary weight-bearing may cause fracture. As the disease progresses, the victim develops anemia.

X-ray and urethane may relieve the pain and make life more comfortable, but they cannot be said to cure the disease.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

A's Also Shutout

Cardinals Blanked By a 'Bonus' Baby

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ray Culp, a 21-year-old $100,000 Philadelphia bonus baby, cruised to a three-hit 6-0 shutout over the St. Louis Cardinals in Philadelphia.

Kansas City also bowed to youth as 20-year-old Jim Roland of the Minnesota Twins beat them 4-0 in Kansas City. The second straight whitewash job left the fourth place A's one-half game ahead of the Twins.

Culp, 7-3, bested another bonus player of some years back, Curt Simmons, who watched another batch of oldsters lose in a pre-game contest.

Philadelphia's pennant winning "whiz kids" of 1950, of which Simmons was a member, lost a 3-1 three-inning reunion game to the current Phillies squad.

Culp took it from there and held the Cardinals hitless until Ken Boyer singled in the fifth. Boyer and George Altman managed two more singles in the ninth.

Simmons, 34, was not a bad pitcher, but had to suffer through an unreal third inning. Culp began it with a single then Don Hoak reached base when Simmons slipped fielding his bunt. A sacrifice and another infield hit scored one run and a wild throw on a double steal attempt brought in the other. Simmons is 6-2.

The defeat cost the Cardinals a chance to move into a tie for first with San Francisco. St. Louis is tied for second with the Chicago Cubs, who won a double-header from the Giants.

Roland allowed the A's just two hits over seven innings before leaving with an elbow injury. Bill Dailey came in to finish the shutout and preserve the rookie's fourth victory in five decisions.

Veteran Orlando Pena lost his sixth against five victories. Rich Rollins drove in all three runs off the A's righthander with an infield hit and a two-run homer. Harmon Killebrew homered in the eighth.

Kansas City gets a day off today. The Cardinals will send Bob Gibson (3-3) against Chris Short (1-5) of the Phils tonight.

Mantle Hurt During Game With Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mickey Mantle, the injury-prone superstar of the New York Yankees, hobbled to the sidelines today with a broken bone in his left foot which may keep him out of action for six weeks.

The 31-year-old centerfielder, playing with typical all-out effort, sustained the injury while trying to haul down a home run hit by Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles in the sixth inning of Wednesday night's game.

While trying to make the catch and prevent the Orioles from tying the score, Mantle backed into the wire fence about 410 feet from home plate with his glove hand raised above his head. His spikes apparently caught in the fence and his foot twisted as he fell to the ground.

X-rays taken at Union Memorial Hospital disclosed a fracture of the third metacarpal bone—about midway between the toes and the ankle. His leg was put into a cast up to his knee.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, the Orioles' team physician who treated Mantle, said the cast probably couldn't be removed for two to three weeks, and it might be two or three more weeks after that before Mantle can play again.

Manager Ralph Houk said he would await further advice from Dr. Sidney Gaylor, the Yankee team physician, before deciding whether to put Mantle on the disabled list, which would mean at least 30 days of inactivity. The Yankee star was to return to New York today.

"I know Mickey pretty well," Houk said. "He'll be back as soon as he can. I won't put him on the disabled list unless it's certain he can't come back for a long period."

This Sunday there will be a registered shoot at the club with the new trap layout in full operation. The shoot starts at 1 o'clock.

Coughing Epidemic Spreads in Stables

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—A coughing epidemic, spreading like wildfire through the Hollywood Park stable area, has attacked more than one third of the horses on the grounds and reduced the fields for many races.

One of the races on today's card has only six starters and some of the rich stakes races have been affected by the absence of big stars who are ailing.

The epidemic, which hit many harness tracks in the East and Midwest last month, has even hit the huge Belgians who pull the starting gate and the small hackneys used to take patrol judges to their posts. These animals have not been able to work this week.

Babe Ruth Mothers Requested at Meeting

Mothers of all Babe Ruth players are urged to attend an important meeting at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the office of L. R. Black, Superintendent of Parks. Black's office is located on Liberty Park Blvd. in the building formerly housing the skating rink.

Major League Players Hold Plush Chairs

NEW YORK (AP)—The major league baseball player today simply doesn't know how well off he is.

He has a minimum $7,000 annual contract, he cannot be cut more than 25 per cent in any year, and all his traveling expenses are paid by the club.

In addition, he has one of the most generous pension plans to be found anywhere. This includes a $20,000 life insurance policy and health care benefits not only for himself but all members of his immediate family.

Now compare the present player's status with that of the major leaguers of the early years.

Some of the provisions of the player contract of 1887 give credence to the oft-repeated charge that the early day players were truly chattels at the whim and mercy of the club owner.

For example: "The club has the right to suspend and expel the player without notice. These powers are not limited to cases of dishonest play or open insubordination, but include the right to discipline, suspend or expel for carelessness, indifference or such conduct as may be regarded as prejudicial to the club interests in any respect."

"The player assumes all risk of accident or injury, in play or otherwise, and of illness from whatever causes. If he falls sick, the club has the right to promptly suspend him."

"As often as the club sees fit, the player has to submit himself to medical examination at his own expense."

"The player has to provide two suits of uniform—minutely described in the contract—at his own expense and to keep them in thorough repair."

"While on the road with the nine a stipulated sum—usually 75 cents—is deducted daily from the player's wages on account of his board. When at home he has to pay the whole of his own board and all other personal expenses."

"The club reserves the right to terminate the contract at any time by giving 10 days notice."

In sharp contrast, the 1963 player contracts provides: "That disability or illness sustained in the course and within the scope of the player's employment under the contract shall not impair the rights of the player to receive full salary for the period of such disability."

"That all hospital and medical expenses incurred by reason of this injury be paid by the club."

"That the club will pay all proper and necessary traveling expenses of the player while 'abroad' or traveling with the club in other cities, including board, lodging and Pullman reservations."

"That the club may terminate the player's contract upon written notice to the player but only after requesting and obtaining waivers on the player's contract from all other major league clubs."

"That any claim or complaint by either party against the other shall be presented to the commissioner within one year from the date it arose."

There was another major difference between the contracts.

In 1887 the two major leagues—National and American Association—had a maximum salary. No player could receive more than $2,500 a season. This is half of what Willie Mays or Mickey Mantle earns in one week.

Kiwanis, Post 16 Winners In Little League Action

A brief thundershower did little to dampen the spirits of fans at Little League games Wednesday night.

In major league play, it was Kiwanis 8, Elks 5, making Elks' record 1 win, 1 loss for the season. It was Kiwanis' first game of the season. Jim Cramer took the win for Kiwanis, with Ben Embree chalking up the loss.

The second game in the majors saw Post 16 defeat Adco 8-2, giving Adco a season record of 1 win, 1 loss. It was Post 16's opener. Joe Bill Rames was the winning pitcher, Ronald Scalzo the loser.

"A" team action at Centennial Park saw Post 16 top Adco, 9-4. The winning pitcher was Mike Jarvis, Fred Bodenhamer the losing pitcher.

Kiwanis slipped past Elks 5-4

Two Americans Surprises Of British Amateur

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Two Americans, Dick Davies and Chris Blocker, have been the surprises of the British Amateur Golf Championship so far this week.

Davies, the defending champion from Pasadena, Calif., has dispelled the belief that he was lucky to win the title last year at Hoylake.

Blocker, a 23-year-old from Jalisco, N.M., now assigned to an Army missile base in Italy, has become a favorite of those Scots who like to bet on a dark horse.

Davies and Blocker head the surviving six Americans who teed off today in the fourth round of match play.

The other four are Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., Dick Sikes of Springdale, Ark., Ron Lucetti of San Francisco and Boyd O'Donnell of Hollywood, Calif.

Blocker's opponent today was veteran Michael Lunt of England. Davies was matched against Scotland's John Wilson and Sikes, two-time U.S. National Public Links champion from the University of Arkansas, faced Hugh MacAnespie, another Scot.

Updegraff was paired against George Dixon of England, O'Donnell against Ronnie Shade, and Lucetti against Scotland's Brian Anderson.

Athletics Call Up

Portland Outfielder

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Outfielder Jay Hankins, who hit .365 for Portland of the Pacific Coast League in 36 games, will join the Kansas City Athletics Friday.

The A's announced purchase of Hankins' contract Wednesday. Hector Martinez, who was called up by the A's May 23, was returned to Portland on option. Martinez had appeared in six games, hitting .286 and batting in three runs.

Hankins bats left and throws right. Martinez is a right-handed pitcher.

Elks scored 14 to Jaycees' 8 runs in the second game at Housel in "C" team play. Steve Bingaman was the winning pitcher, David Woodard credited with the loss for Jaycees.

B. J. Chiefs Open Home Season Today

The Sedalia Chiefs, defending western division Ban Johnson champions, open their home season against Marshall tonight at 8 p.m. at the Liberty Park diamond.

Terry Fletcher will open on the mound for the Chiefs with Bill Ferguson behind the plate. Both are making their first appearances in Ban Johnson play, after moving up from the Connie Mack League.

Nicky Nichols, veteran first baseman, will be back at the sack again this year. Bob Lange will be at second, while Gerry Barr will open at short stop and will see service at second during the season.

Tom Morgan, hard-hitting shortstop, will only be available on weekends, since he is attending summer school at Hannibal-La-Grange College, Hannibal.

J. R. Walker will move to third base this season. Larry Pummill will also see service at third in addition to mound duties. Butch Walker, infielder, and Don Wilhite, pitcher, signed contracts last Sunday, but will not be eligible to play this Sunday.

The outfield will be anchored down by the fleet footed Lonnie Schott who will be in center field. He will be flanked in right by the long-ball hitting Ernie Dow and in left field by Gary Bryan or Bob Seiver. Archie Shireman will also see service in the outfield. Jim Schnackenberg will team with Wilhite, Fletcher, and Pummill on the pitching staff.

Mickey's Injury Puts Cast On Hearts of Yankee Squad

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle's cast stretches from his toes to his knee. And quite possibly to the heart of the New York Yankees.

The blond belter, four-time home run champion and three-time Most Valuable Player, suffered a broken bone in his left foot Wednesday night as the Yankees whipped Baltimore 4-3 and regained the American League lead by .004 points over the Orioles.

Doctors estimate the injury—a fracture of the third metacarpal bone, a small bone running across the top of the foot—may keep the Yankee slugger out of the world champions' lineup for as long as six weeks.

And while no player on the Yankees is indispensable, there is little doubt that the men in pinstripes are a radically changed club with Mantle on crutches. That's been shown in the past when the $100,000-a-year center fielder has been sidelined.

Last year Mantle missed 30 games during May and June and the Yankees struggled along at a .500 pace. When he returned to the lineup, they spurred ahead and rolled on to their 12th pennant in the last 14 years. The story has been much the same this year. Bothered by a rib cage injury early in the season, Mantle missed nine games. The Yankees lost five. The Yankees have played .600 ball over-all, .639 with Mantle in the lineup. When he was carried off the field, Mantle had a .310 batting average with 11 homers and 26 runs batted in.

The injury came as Mantle ran into the center-field fence—there is no warning track at Memorial Stadium—trying to catch a homer hit by the Orioles' Brooks Robinson. His spikes became entangled in the wire fence as he backed up for the ball and his left foot twisted as he fell.

While the Yankees were losing Mantle and beating Baltimore, the Chicago White Sox lost an opportunity to take over first place. Needing a doubleheader sweep over the Los Angeles Angels the White Sox won the opener 3-0 but lost the nightcap 8-2.

Elsewhere, Minnesota continued to move up by downing Kansas City 4-0 and Detroit edged Cleveland 5-4. The Boston-Washington game was rained out.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs beat first-place San Francisco twice 9-5 and 5-4. Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 6-0, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Houston 5-1, Milwaukee outlasted the New York Mets 11-9 in 10 innings and Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati twice, 5-4 and 4-3.

The Yankees' victory came when Roger Maris scored in the eighth inning after Tom Tresh banged into Oriole catcher Dick Brown, jarring the ball loose as Brown cocked his arm to throw to first on a doubleplay attempt.

The umpires disallowed the Orioles' contention that Tresh had deliberately bumped Brown. The win went to Whitey Ford, 7-3.

The White Sox won the opener on a bases-empty homer by Dave Nicholson and a two-run shot by Jim Landis. John Buzhardt scattered nine hits for his sixth victory against two losses.

The Angels won the nightcap with a seven-run sixth inning uprising against Ray Herbert, 5-3. Albie Pearson, who stroked four hits, broke a 2-2 tie in the rally with a bases-loaded single. Ken McBride, 5-6, was the winner with a five-hitter.

Rich Rollins and Bob Allison homered for the Twins in support of rookie Jim Roland, who shut out the A's on two hits until he was forced out with elbow trouble after seven innings.

Norm Cash's ninth inning homer provided the margin of victory for the Tigers when Al Luplow homered for the Indians in the bottom of the inning. The winner was Jim Bunning, 4-5, the loser Jim Grant, 3-6.

Says Council Would Offer A's Same Deal Football Team Got

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The chairman of the City Council's baseball committee said Wednesday the city would be willing to give the Athletics the same kind of stadium contract it gave the Kansas City Chiefs football team.

Chairman John D. Maguire would not elaborate, and there were several unanswered questions stemming from the fact that the baseball club plays 81 home games against only seven by the football team.

The Chiefs' contract calls for a split in concession profits, but the A's are paying the city only 7½ per cent.

Another question would be whether the A's would be given a two-year lease at $1 a year, as the Chiefs were. Last season they paid $1,000, plus 5 per cent of the gross admissions.

IMMORTALIZED—Joe Pepitone of the New York Yankees holds a cartoon immortalizing him in his imagined glory as a big-time man-about-town, drawn at the request of Mickey Mantle, right. Pepitone seems to be enjoying the joke on the subject of the first baseman bragging about the attention he attracts, a subject on which Mantle and his teammates have been twitting him. That's the Newspaper Enterprise Association sports cartoonist-writer, Murray Olderman, chuckling sardonically from the Yankee dugout, lower left.

Chicago Acts Serious

Twinbill Victories Vault Cubs Into Tie for Second

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs are acting just like they're serious about this game of baseball. Which, of course, just couldn't be.

Everyone knows the Cubs are a team you point at and giggle. Imagine, a nine-man coaching staff and, of all things, an athletic director. Sure, a million laughs.

Only, who's giggling? Certainly not the San Francisco Giants. Nor the rest of the National League. Nor, come to think about it, anyone but dyed-in-the-wool Cub fans.

The fired-up Cubs swept a doubleheader from the Giants 9-5 and 5-4 Wednesday and vaulted into a tie with St. Louis for second place in the National League, just one game back of the leading Giants.

Rookie Ray Culp threw a three-hitter in leading Philadelphia to a 6-0 edge over the Cardinals; Smokey Burgess drove in the winning run in each game as Pittsburgh swept Cincinnati, 5-4 and 4-3; Milwaukee outlasted New York 11-9 in 10 innings and Los Angeles beat Houston 5-1 behind Sandy Koufax.

The Cubs' sweep of San Francisco made it 10 victories in their last 12 games and six of nine with the league leaders.

The Cubs lashed five home runs in the first game, but had to have a little luck to salvage the nightcap. Lou Brock scampered in from third with the tie-breaking run when the Giants' Chuck Hiller dropped a pop fly in short right field in the seventh.

Ernie Banks hit two homers in the first game, and Billy Williams, Ken Hubbs and Brock one each. For the Giants, Harvey Kuenn and Willie Mays had first-game homers, while Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda connected in the nightcap.

Culp, a $100,000 bonus right-hander for the Phils, had allowed only a single by Ken Boyer through 8-2-3 innings against the Cardinals. Boyer then collected his second single and George Altman singled before the 22-year-old rookie struck out Julian Javier to end the game. The loss dropped the Cards to a share of second, one game off the pace.

The Pirates' Burgess broke a 4-4 tie with a pinch-hit single in the eighth inning of the first game and doubled in what proved to be the winner in the nightcap against the Reds.

The Dodgers' Koufax scattered eight hits and stroked a key single in a decisive three-run sixth inning against Houston. The victory, Koufax' eighth against three losses, pulled the Dodgers to within ½ games of the Giants.

Bubba Morton drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single in the 10th inning for the Braves' winning margin against the Mets. Milwaukee had blown a 9-1 lead behind Warren Spahn with the Mets scoring seven unearned runs in the sixth and tying it in the eighth.

Iran May Be Headed For A New Turbulence Era

By WILLIAM L. RYA,
AP Special Correspondent

Turbulent Iran, historically a focus of East-West rivalry, may be headed once again for a new period of violence which can endanger the Western position in the whole strategic Middle East.

What started out to be religious rioting in Tehran's streets against Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's reforms turned suddenly—but by no means surprisingly—into violent political uproar.

Apparently this has been sparked by diverse groups, each with reasons of its own for wanting to smother the shah's reform program.

Street mobs in Tehran, always an important political factor in Iran, are marshaled from various Islamic societies, from the ranks of bitter anti-shah nationalists, from among the bullies, thugs and riffraff of the bazaars. They can be used by any who can buy them, to support almost any cause.

Involved in this new attack on the reform-minded shah, apparently, are big landlords, mullahs of the Shiite Moslems, nationalist politicians who follow aged former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, and Tudeh party Communists and their followers. The shah himself is a Shiite Moslem, as are the majority of Iranians. The mullahs bitterly resent his land reform program because, apparently, they feel it endangers their great acreage holdings.

Landlords have similar reasons for resenting the shah's plans. Nationalist politicians long have hankered and plotted to overthrow the constitutional monarchy. And the Tudeh Communists—though underrated and reduced in power over the past decade—are in the show for the usual obvious reasons—to take advantage of any turbulent situation.

The majority of the country clearly is behind the shah, although that does not insure him against revolutionary thrusts from powerful forces in Tehran.

In a plebiscite early this year, the country voted overwhelmingly for the shah's program. This envisions breaking up big estates among small farmers, sale of government-owned factories to finance repayment of landlords, amendments to election laws to prevent fraud, nationalization of forests, establishment of a force to battle illiteracy, and a profit-sharing plan for factory workers.

National Effort to Cut Part Of Welfare Spending

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An obscure office in the New York State Department of Social Welfare is providing guidance to other states in a national effort to cut $252 million a year from the cost of public welfare.

The office is the Bureau of Registry and Location. Its task is to find the whereabouts of fathers and mothers who desert their families, leaving them to taxpayers to support.

If located in another state, the parents can be prosecuted under "the runaway pappy act."

The bureau—in full-time operation slightly less than a year—has a 31 per cent record of achievement. A new federal regulation requires all states to set up something similar.

The federal government estimates that desertion is responsible for 18 per cent of cases receiving aid-to-dependent children. That comes to the $252 million a year figure.

New York and other states have laws requiring parents to support their children. But first the parents must be found.

That is where Nathan Rosenblatt, director of the New York bureau, comes in. With a staff of four and an annual budget of $30,800, Rosenblatt delves through income tax reports, unemployment insurance checks, prison records and motor vehicle department data to find addresses for persons who have left their families on welfare.

Municipal welfare officials in New York State have asked Rosenblatt's help in locating 3,400 deserters. He found recent addresses for 1,056, or 31 per cent. From there, action is a local responsibility.

The New York bureau, created prior to the federal regulation, has attracted queries from Alabama, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Minnesota, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Washington State and the city of Boston.

The key to the New York operation is that it has access to state records that normally are confidential—tax reports, correction department files, and unemployment insurance records.

If a deserter is employed in the state, the bureau can obtain the name and address of the man and his employer. If the man is collecting unemployment insurance, the bureau can learn where the checks are being picked up.

If the man is in jail, in a mental institution, or has visited a friend in jail correction department records will show this.

When the local welfare official knows where his quarry is, he begins legal proceedings to make him assume his responsibilities, proceeding begun in one state can be tried in another, eliminating the need of returning a man home for trial.

Old Soldier Expected To Make Ruling

NEW YORK (AP)—Old soldier Douglas MacArthur, who has helped resolve some wars before, is expected to make a ruling in the near future—possibly today—in an effort to effect a temporary truce between feuding national sports groups.

The Amateur Athletic Union asked the five-star general to make a ruling in its dispute with the college-sponsored U.S. Track and Field Federation. The dispute threatens to wreck the track meet at which the U.S. team will be chosen for a scheduled meet with Russia.

MacArthur, named by President Kennedy to arbitrate the long, complex power struggle between the AAU and the college groups, is expected to rule only on the National AAU championship meet scheduled for St. Louis, June 21-2 at which the U.S. team will be picked.

The complicated question of sanctioning rights for this meet is the crux of the latest flare-up between the AAU and the USTFF, and the general is expected to confine his ruling to the AAU meet alone.

At the President's request, MacArthur hammered out some stop-gap truce measures in March, aimed at keeping the two factions at ease until after the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo.

Under that agreement, the AAU was given the right to sanction open meets, meets involving both college and non-college athletes. And the USTFF was given the right of sanctioning the athletes themselves in such meets.

That's the problem involving the AAU meet. The USTFF has advised its members that college athletes should not compete in the meet unless the USTFF is allowed sanctioning rights in the meet. This, the AAU had steadfastly refused.

New Pope Will Find Many Changes Have Taken Place

EDITOR'S NOTE—A student of Vatican affairs, AP correspondent Bennet M. Bolton tells in the following article on the life of John XXIII how this peasant's son broke precedents and brought the papacy closer to the people than it had been in a century. This is the last of three articles.

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The man who succeeds Pope John XXIII will come to a papacy significantly changed during his reign.

To many people, Catholics and non-Catholics alike, the papacy may seem closer now.

The tradition that Pops seldom leave the Vatican has been broken. Hesitation to receive Protestant leaders has been overcome.

Pope John brought the church to grips with the 20th Century.

On Nov. 4, 1958, the day he was crowned, no one dreamed of the changes that were ahead.

Then 76, the pontiff with the heavy features was appraised by many as an interim Pope. There were predictions that the papacy would remain fairly static until the emergence of a strong, vigorous, younger Pope.

Pope John at once shattered that concept, and he continued to sweep away the pieces as his reign progressed. He brought the Pope out of the Vatican and the Roman Catholic Church out of the counterreformation, carrying both dynamically into a difficult, modern world.

The major works that marked Pope John as a great Pope were his Ecumenical Council and his major encyclicals "Mater et Magistra" and "Pacem in Terris."

The qualities that endeared him as a person were his sweeping mental grasp of humanity as a single entity and his utter unpretentiousness.

He once said that he hoped his "single and true title of honor" would always be: "He was a priest before God and before the people. A true and sincere friend of all the nations."

The humble farmer's son had a difficult time at first adjusting to the papal or imperial "We" when referring to himself in public address. He would explain to an aide that it was awkward to think of oneself in the plural, and he often reverted to "I."

"Don't interrupt me — I mean us," the Pope once joked.

The new Pope of 1958 wasted no time. One of his first acts was to announce in January, 1959, that he would call an ecumenical—or general—council of all his bishops.

There had been only 20 before in history, the last in 1869-70. Pope John explained that his council would be a council of "aggiornamento"—bringing up to date—designed to help the cause of Christian unity and restore to his own church the pure lines of early centuries.

He labored hard the next four-and-a-half years to bring the project into reality. He set up an elaborate preparatory program to sound out the bishops' ideas and draw up topics.

He created a secretariat to promote Christian unity and put an eminent Biblical scholar, Augustin Cardinal Bea, at its head. The secretariat invited observer delegates from the world's major Christian faiths to attend the council.

Thus was the Roman Catholic Church plunged actively into the ecumenical (unity) movement of Protestantism and Eastern Orthodoxy.

Pope John opened the Ecumenical Council in medieval pomp and liturgical splendor on Oct. 11, 1962, in the midst of 2,500 council fathers. The 46 non-Catholic observers were given places of honor.

When the council's initial session recessed in December for nine months, Pope John already was seriously ill. But the council's work has caused such a stir in the church and aroused such favorable comment both in and out of the church, that it is believed his successor has no choice but to continue it.

The Pope found time to write eight encyclical letters. Two of them were pronouncements of major impact. "Mater et Magistra" (1961) called for a better deal for the working man and more equitable distribution of the world's goods. It ranks with Pope Leo XIII's Rerum Novarum, which set the church's modern social policy. "Pacem in Terris" (1963) appealed to mankind to learn to live in a peaceful world with some form of supranational government body, with nuclear arms banned and with racial and religious discrimination snuffed out.

In his last months of life Pope John tried to reach understandings with governments behind the Iron Curtain — the first time the Vatican had ever pursued such goals.

Vatican diplomats were deep in negotiations with Poland, Hungary and possibly Czechoslovakia as Pope John's reign drew to its end.

These were the ways that "the Pope of unity, the Pope of peace" sought to move Catholicism onto the front lines in the battle for world tranquility and brotherhood. His efforts won him the $160,000 Balzan Peace Prize. He accepted his award at ceremonies last month that were elaborate and tiring for the Pope, already reaching the end of his strength.

Pope John had been busy housecleaning inside the Vatican all the while. He restored papal customs and garments—walking in Lenten processions to Rome churches and wearing the "Camauro," or cap—that had been untouched for years.

He raised the salaries of the Vatican's tiny civilian work staff, seeing to it that his portable throne bearers got double wages because they had to carry twice as much pontiff as in the days of frail Pope Pius XII.

He held consistories five times for the creation of new cardinals, raising the number from 52 to record highs of 74, 78, 85 and then 87. He brought in cardinals from distant lands where Catholicism is almost nonexistent and let every race be represented. He created the first Negro cardinal, the first Japanese.

He received 250,000 annually in huge weekly general audiences that ran twice the size of his predecessors' audiences. In private audiences he saw princes and kings, prime ministers and potentates, Protestants and atheists — including Soviet Premier Khrushchev's daughter Rada and son-in-law Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia. No other Pope had ever received such a personality from the Soviet Union.

Pope John carried the image of papacy, through his own person, out into bustling Rome and beyond its brow of sunny hills. He was the first Pope in nearly a century to travel crosscountry by rail, go-through its own efforts. The award is given by the Kansas City Garden Club in memory of Mrs. Cliff Adams. Mrs. Orval C. Sutter, state president, presided at the awards presentation. Mrs. Hazel L. Knapp was awards chairman.

ing 400 miles to Assisi and Loreto on a pilgrimage to pray for his Ecumenical Council.

As bishop of Rome, he went out among the little people in their own environment—the same people he always found time for at audiences in his Renaissance halls: children and carpenters, cabbies and cops, farmers and fishermen.

He used every chance that offered itself to add one more note for brotherhood and tolerance — and he put it to practice, such as striking a disparaging adjective about Jews from a centuries-old Good Friday liturgical ceremony.

The people of the Eternal City, which has seen virtually all the Pops of Catholicism pass down through 20 centuries, took Pope John to their hearts as their beloved pastor, one of their own.

Crowds pressed in tight whenever he rode by their piazzas.

They shouted their admiration until it rang from the Forum's ruins.

"Long live the Pope!"

"Long live Papa Giovanni!" And they chanted the warmest of Italian endearments, the diminutive: "Long live Pope Little John!"

The passing figure in white beamed in appreciation, nodding his head.

He raised his hands in a gentle wave and whispered over and over his favorite reply: "Coraggio, coraggio"—Courage, courage.

Many and Varied Hometown Dairy Firms Are Operating

The dairy industry has become a giant of American agriculture and is an important customer for a wide variety of goods and services.

The milk produced by the nation's dairy farmers has far-reaching economic effects upon scores of industries directly or indirectly connected with the dairy industry.

The dairy industry supplies 28 percent of the nation's food for 19 cents of every dollar. It consists of one-fifth of the total agricultural field. More than 10 billion dollars' worth of dairy products are sold each year.

To keep this gigantic supply of milk flowing from the farms through processing and distributing plants to the consumer requires an army of dedicated workers.

Throughout the United States, according to the latest Census of Manufacturers, 5,157 companies in the fluid milk business employed more than 200,000 people; 990 butter companies, 1,026 natural cheese companies, 161 condensed and evaporated milk companies, 1,167 ice cream companies and 97 companies specializing in dairy products employed many thousands.

400,000 Vehicles

These workers need equipment and transportation.

The dairy industry utilizes some 400,000 vehicles to transport milk and dairy products.

Processing plants are markets for refrigeration units, new dairy equipment, glass and steel pipelines, pumps and other industrial equipment.

Dairy farms constantly need chemicals, feeds, machinery and other commodities.

Packaging the millions of pounds of dairy foods sold daily calls for purchase of glass and paper containers.

Vital to Community

Dairy farming becomes a vital and integral part of a community economic structure. Those actively engaged in the dairy business are themselves a ready market for services and products.

It may be difficult to determine exactly how many jobs, over and above those directly connected with the dairy industry, are made for a given community because it is in a dairy farming and processing area, but a few examples may illustrate the point.

Banks need more help to render their important services to the dairyman. Business done by local stores in supplying family and home needs of dairy farmers increase the retailers' need for clerks.

EVERYONE INVITED:
JUNE DAIRY MONTH ICE CREAM SOCIAL
Friday, June 7, 6:30 to 10:30, Pettis County Court House Parking Lot, Sedalia

At Court House Lot

Dairy Day Set Friday;
Ice Cream, Cake Sale

Dairy Day is set for Friday, with the highlights of the evening being ice cream and homemade cake for 15 cents. Men from the rural area and town men, members of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, will make up the crew to dip ice cream. The weather will decide for them whether they dip that ice cream at the court house parking lot or at Smith-Cotton cafeteria. If it is a nice night they will serve on the parking lot, if it rains they will serve at the cafeteria.

Dairy Day is sponsored by the Pettis County University Center of which Merle Vaughan is director, and is for the purpose of promoting the use of dairy products—that is why the public is getting a real bargain in ice cream and homemade cake. It has been a number of years since it has been possible to get ice cream and cake for 15 cents except on Dairy Day.

June is Dairy Month and has been selected because it is the month of the highest milk production. The reason is the pastures are most abundant at this time.

The farm women, the best cake bakers anywhere, are donating the cakes, and so far there have been 64 cakes promised—but there is a need for more.

In addition to the ice cream and cake there will be another luscious dish, the lovely Dairy Princess, Miss Ruth Ann Hertzog. Her chaperone, Mrs. Jewell Henry, will accompany her to Sedalia.

A short program will be presented at 7 p.m. with Jimmie Glenn as master of ceremonies. He will introduce Miss Hertzog and short talks will also be made by Russell McFatrach, local June Dairy Month chairman, and Elwyn King, representative of the American Dairy Association.

The Dairy Day event is financed by the voluntary check off from dairymen's milk checks through the year.

Music from 6:30 to 7 and from 7:30 to 10, will be furnished during the evening by the Comets composed of Butch Turner, David Turner, Danny Rau, Jim Johnson, Mrs. Rodney Shepherd and Miss Ruth Bockelman.

Mrs. Sheldon Smith, Smithton, and Mrs. Walter Kraft, Route 2, Hughesville, are co-chairmen of the cake committee, and have lined up their committee members in pairs to receive the cakes at the Chamber of Commerce office across the street from the court house parking lot.

The cake receiving committee will serve as follows: 12 noon to 1 p.m., Mrs. Walter Banning, Route 2, Sedalia, and Mrs. Howard Dirck, Smithton; 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., Mrs. Raymond Askew, La Monte, and Mrs. Raymond Ditzfeld, Route 2, Sedalia; 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., Mrs. Melvin Turner, Route 3, Sedalia, and Mrs. Ralph Hall, Route 2, Sedalia; 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., Mrs. Henry Alt, Route 1, Sedalia, and Mrs. Rudy Rehmer, Smithton; 4 to 5 p.m., Mrs. A. C. Henderson, Jr., Route 4, Sedalia, and Mrs. Raymond Dillon, Route 3, Sedalia; 5 to 6 p.m., Mrs. John Bluhm Jr., Route 4, Sedalia, and Mrs. Ernest Shupp, Route 4, Sedalia; 6 to 7 p.m., Mrs. Granville Thompson, Route 3, Sedalia; Mrs.

TV Re-Runs
Shows As Stars Relax

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Television now has entered its slack season. The vast majority of programs have moved into reruns. Performers are taking off for Europe, mountains, beaches—or more likely—summer stock, the fair circuit or personal appearances.

But the lack of excitement on the small screens of the nation's television sets does not reflect the turbulent activity behind the scenes.

Casting for next season's programs is in progress, and some of them are in production. Packagers are busily seeking to sell programs to networks, for a year hence as well as fall.

For instance, the busy Goodson-Todman firm has developed still another television word game, "The Missing Link," which it hopes to slip into some network's daytime schedule next season, preferably NBC's.

Meanwhile, one of its six game shows, "Play Your Hunch," is up for renewal at NBC but its future is up in the air. There's a possibility that, if "Hunch" disappears, host Robert Q. Lewis (or even Merv Griffin) might move into the host's spot of the new show which involves a celebrity panel guessing missing words in stories.

At ABC, executives are reported to be taking another hard look at a series, "Channing," scheduled for fall debut and thinking about a replacement. The show has not yet found sponsors. They have also changed the title of the Gene Barry cops-and-robbers show, originally "Amos Burke," to "Burke's Law," which makes it sound like another court-room series—which it isn't.

CBS has some irons in the fire, too. Discussions are in progress which may lead to the departure of its veteran correspondent David Schoenbrun, with the network for the past 16 years. He was recently returned to Europe as a roving correspondent after a short period as its top Washington man. There are rumors Schoenbrun balked at leaving Washington.

In addition, CBS recently made a precedent-shattering commitment. It has scheduled repeat broadcasts of two documentaries, "Hollywood: The Fabulous Era," and "Hollywood: The Great Stars," in August and September. Reruns certainly aren't unusual, but both of these excellent hour-

Jr., Route 4, Sedalia, and Guy T. Yeater, Route 1, Sedalia.

Members of the agriculture and farm marketing division of the Chamber of Commerce, Dick Monsees, director, and Dr. Robert Gouge, general chairman, who will dip ice cream will be: John Ryan, Jack Bloess, Fred Karigan, James Harvey, John Harvey, Jr., Olen Downs, Arnold Fischer, Charles Leftwich, W. H. Shockey, Robert Cain, Everett Stevenson, Richard East, W. H. Ritzenthaler, Paul Schroder, Vernon Bingaman, James Durely, Gordon Callis, Carl Shoe, Don Walz and Charles Schauwecker.

Cashiers will be Chuck Finley and Louis Hughes, Jr.

Buttering Up Can Pay

Mmm! Sizzlin' steaks spread with a mixture of creamery butter and Blue cheese—enough to make any mouth water. Served with baked potatoes stuffed with plenty of butter and Cheddar cheese, and marinated cherry tomatoes and avocado slices, what gourmet could ask for anything more?

dar cheese, and marinated cherry tomatoes and avocado slices, what gourmet could ask for anything more?

Buttering up the boss, even if he's your husband, pays taste dividends for all concerned. It may even pay off in a raise for the boss of your boss.

All it takes is one bite of a juicy porterhouse served A La Blue. One bite, and all bosses will agree that zesty Blue cheese and melted butter make a spread worthy of any good porterhouse. Adding Blue cheese to dishes isn't a new culinary trick. Bits of Blue do wonders for crisp tossed greens—and bring out the best of a tangy sour cream or French dressing. Blue cheese gives extra pungency to cracker and potato chip dips, too. The delicate flavor of pears is complemented by the robustness of Blue cheese.

Naturally, Blue cheese blended with golden creamery butter will live up a steak. It's a simple matter to combine the two with bits of nippy chives, spread the mixture over a hot steak platter and place the cooked steak atop so the cheesy pieces can adhere to the steak's surface. This goes mighty good with broiled or grilled hamburgers, too.

Whether dining indoors or out, serve a gourmet menu to go with such extraordinary steaks. This is easy to do. Merely wrap potatoes in foil and bake, then slit, pop up and stuff with plenty of butter and flakes of sharp Cheddar cheese.

Salad can have a different twist, too. Marinate cherry tomato halves and avocado slices in your favorite Italian style dressing. Several hours is plenty of time to soak up that extra piquancy.

Grill or oven warmed French bread or hard rolls spread with butter are just what these steaks need, with fresh, cold milk to sip.

PORTERHOUSE A LA BLUE

6 servings
3 porterhouse or T-bone steaks, cut ¾ inch thick, approximately 1½ pounds each
½ cup (1 stick) butter, melted
½ cup crumbled Blue cheese
2 tablespoons chopped chives
Freshly ground pepper

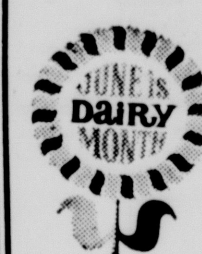

Broil steaks to desired degree of doneness (approx. 7 minutes per side for medium-rare). On a hot steak platter combine butter, Blue cheese and chives (or divide mixture among 3 platters). Transfer steak to platters; turn several times to coat sides with mixture. Sprinkle with freshly ground pepper and serve immediately.

Keep Pace With Progress

Cows have always kept pace with progress in this country. Since the days of the colonies to the westward migrations of the pioneers, the cow in her old-fashioned way is as modern as tomorrow.

Man has been milking cows and goats and reindeer for thousands of years, but it has only been in the last century that scientific breeding, feeding, and herd management have been applied to dairy cattle to increase milk production.

The average cow, which originally produced only enough milk to feed her calf, today, on the average, supplies enough milk to feed 10 people all their milk and other dairy foods for one year. Many cows produce enough milk to feed from 20 to 30 people their average yearly per capita consumption of milk and milk products.

One of the early attempts by the Virginia colonists to "civilize" the Indians was the presentation of a dairy cow to each Indian chief whose tribe brought to the authorities at Jamestown the heads of eight wolves. The dual hope of the colonists to destroy the predatory wolves and to civilize the Indians was never realized. The Indians didn't like milking cows. They found it less work and more enjoyable to eat the animals for meat.

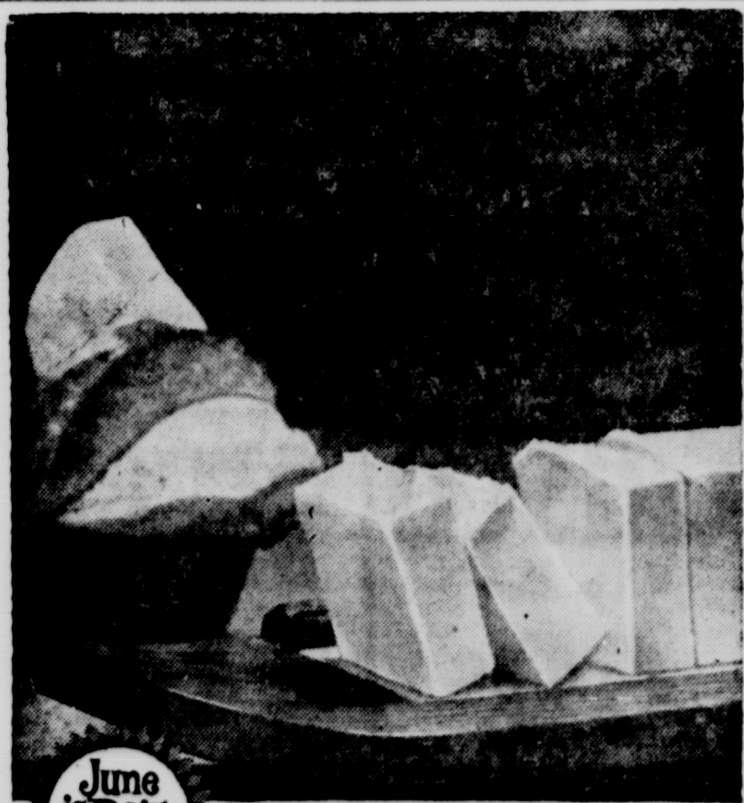

The Pilgrims, who came to Plymouth in 1620, went through periods of food scarcity until in 1624 dairy cattle were brought to the colony.

The problems encountered in settling the new country soon led to new policies governing the planning of colonies. The governments and companies sponsoring settlements in America established definite rules requiring that so many head of livestock must accompany each group of settlers. In many of the early colonies, land was set aside as a common pasture for the people. Boston Common, today a beautiful park in the center of that city, was a pasture for the cows of the early settlers.

On the westward trek the cow was a mobile food factory. She followed the family wagon all day and provided the family's food that evening. She needed only grass and water to produce a food supply that could nourish the entire family. Losing a cow on the trail was a serious blow to a family's fortune.

When the family finally settled down, the cow continued her good work of supplying milk and other dairy foods. She also supplied meat and leather, and her horns were used to keep the settler's powder dry. She often was sheltered in the family's living quarters not only to safeguard her from Indians and wild animals, but to provide body warmth for the cabin.

Yes, the cow, the animal which ancient civilizations often worshipped and considered to be "the foster mother of the human race," has kept pace with progress in our country.

Exciting Treat

Milk in Bread With Bread, Ways They Work Together

"Milk in bread" and "milk served with bread" are two ways of showing how bread and milk go together. A glass of milk served with a bread rich in milk is a tasty between-meal snack.

The world of bread is an exciting world. Every country has a bread with a distinct flavor and goodness. In the United States homemade bread is usually baked for a special occasion. Even bakery bread has become a "Sunday after church" purchase. However, we are currently in the midst of a bread revolution.

Several baking companies have introduced "whipped" or "batter" bread which contains no holes. Other companies stress the importance of fluid milk or nonfat milk for nutrition and their ads urge consumers to ask for bread made with dairy products. Bread made with milk tastes better and toasts better.

slices, whether plain or caraway studded.

Italian and French breads, hard and crusty outside but soft and tender within, even improve with a buttering and oven-warming. And if not for the deliciously chewy bagel, a Sunday brunch of smoked salmon and cream cheese would be hardly possible.

Dairies Supply 28 Percent Of U.S. Nutritional Needs

Based on the retail weights of all foods, milk products supplied approximately 28 per cent of the total American food supply in 1962.

American ate an average of 1,488 pounds of food. This included the equivalent of 640 pounds of milk in all forms, 163 pounds of meat, 11 pounds of fish, 92 pounds of fresh fruits, 97 pounds of sugar, 124 pounds of fresh vegetables, 16 pounds of coffee, and 324 eggs.

Dairy products provided more of the total food supply than any other category. In 1962 each American drank some 150 quarts of milk, consumed 7.5 pounds of butter, 8.5 pounds of cheese, 4.6 pounds of cottage cheese, and 18 pounds of ice cream.

In this age of convenience foods, milk and milk products remain "nature's own" convenience foods. Milk, butter, cheese, ice cream and other dairy foods are easy-to-use and economical because there is no waste and because they provide so much food value per pound.

Dairy foods taste good alone and add distinctive flavor to other foods. In addition, milk products are a nutritional bargain. They provide over 75 per cent of the nation's supply of dietary calcium, 26 per cent of the high quality necessary protein, and almost half of the riboflavin, as well as other essential food nutrients.

Source for the above figures are United States Department of Agriculture Reports.

In 1962 American housewives spent 19.3 cents of every dollar for food. This averages $395 per person of the total food expenditure in 1962 or $74 billion.

Food continued to take a smaller and smaller share of the consumer's dollar in 1962. Only 19 per cent of consumer disposable income was spent for food and related services, as contrasted to 26 per cent in 1947-9.

This doesn't indicate a reduction in food expenditures but rather a smaller percentage of a much larger disposable income. This is generally believed to be a sign of progress in a civilization since it means that more people are freed from food production to produce other products and services.

Technological progress on American farms and rapidly improving management practices by American farmers are responsible for freeing most Americans from the labor of earning our daily bread by tilling the soil.

We have grown from a nation in which one out of every four workers had to produce our food to a country in which one farmer produces food and fiber for 28 people.

Not only do fewer farmers produce more food, but the true cost of food—in terms of the amount of labor required to buy the food—has dropped sharply over the years. In 1890 it took a factory worker 25½ minutes to earn enough to pay for one quart of milk delivered to his home in comparison to 6½ minutes in 1962.

Monster Watching Pastime

By BOB WATTS

LONDON (AP)—Richard Need is a man with an unusual pastime—monster watching.

Each year this 31-year-old documentary film maker drives 550 miles from London to Loch Ness in northern Scotland to watch and wait and film a monster—if one should ever show itself.

"At one time I felt there was something in the loch, but was not quite sure what," he said.

"Now, after reading all the books and articles and speaking to several eyewitnesses, I am prepared to stick my neck out and say that the animal in Loch Ness is as yet unclassified by zoology, that it is probably 30 or 40 feet long and that it probably resembles a plesiosaur (a prehistoric monster)."

Need has never seen a monster, but he is hoping.

"Once I saw a patch moving across the water. I started shooting with the movie camera. Then I took a look through my binoculars. It was a flight of birds, tight together low over the water."

Need doesn't think monster-watching will catch on as a sport.

"The rewards are so nonexistent. It gets boring by about the fourth day. You need to be half mad to stick it out. I have now been going to the loch for three consecutive years and I still don't expect to see anything for some time. It's hardly an exciting sport."

Need's wife, Jayne, thinks it's a fairly harmless form of lunacy.

Base for Need's monster-watching is a hotel in the tiny loch-side village of Foyers.

"I get up at 4:30 a.m. each morning and I'm out of the hotel by 5 o'clock. I go back for breakfast by 9 a.m. and am back on the side of the loch again by 9:30. I then stay there for the rest of the day until 7 p.m. when I go back to the hotel for dinner."

"The best time is dawn. Eighty-five per cent of all monster sightings are made between dawn and 9 a.m. For this reason some people claim the monster is nocturnal."

Could the monster be a dolphin or an eel?

"There is no known animal so far suggested—and there have been a lot of suggestions—that fits the facts. When so many people, some of them very reliable, describe how they have seen a 30-foot-long creature with a bulbous body and a long neck, how do you reconcile this with a dolphin?"

Why does Need do it?

"Did you ever get a feeling of frustration that there is something needs to be done and nobody else is doing it? If the authorities are not going to mount a large expedition then it leaves it open to the amateur. This is a great mystery. I love mysteries. That's why I do it."

He is convinced that a really well-organized expedition could settle once and for all the mystery of the 24-mile long loch.

But the difficulties, even for a massive scientific expedition, would be immense. At its deepest the loch goes down more than 700 feet—deeper than the North Sea, and the brackish black waters make diving and underwater camera work particularly difficult.

Need almost is saddened by the thought of the mystery being solved—even if a monster is discovered.

"There would be the consolation of being proved right—but the thought is sad all the same."

Dairy Foods Complement Daily Meals

In early days dairy foods stood alone as a vital and basic part of everyone's diet. In today's society, with so many more foods to choose from, versatile dairy foods still complement and supplement the flavor and nutrition of other foods.

They "highlight" the flavor of many foods and assure the average homemaker of a quality menu with gourmet touches only dairy foods can impart.

The versatility of dairy foods is displayed daily in combination with instant seasoning mixes of all sorts. Merely by adding these seasonings to your cream or cottage cheese, you have a quick and ready tasty appetizer.

For dessert, it's easy to make an entirely new kind of pie by spooning ice cream into a butter crumb crust and topping with glazed fruit. Or, to add a new flavor twist, use shredded Cheddar right in the crust of a Dutch apple pie.

Use dairy foods often. They're economical, easy to serve and instantly ready. They're eye-appealing as well as tasty.

Day for a Heavenly Salad

Marinate assorted fresh fruits in Creamy Dressing or sour cream for a Heavenly Fruit Salad that's simply divine. Dressing harmonizes into a blend of tasty eating.

"What a difference a day makes, 24 little hours," according to a favorite old song. A person can become a year older, a paycheck richer, or enjoy our Heavenly Fruit Salad.

In just 24 little hours, a medley of succulent summer-ripe fruits sauced with rich Creamy Dressing harmonizes into a blend of tasty eating. Fruits such as sweet seedless grapes, sun-ripened bananas, succulent pineapple and juicy Bing cherries join together to make a refreshing dish.

Not to be overlooked is the tart good taste added by fresh oranges, and the summery flavor of ripe melon balls and dark purple plums. Miniature marshmallows give the faint flavor of candy-sweetness.

The high note in this salad is the Creamy Dressing — a tangy, sweet-sour mixture of eggs, orange juice and delicious dairy-fresh sour-cream. The Heavenly Fruit Salad is appropriately named as it tastes even better the second day than it did the first.

For a quick change, this salad comes with a second dressing — fresh sour cream spooned right from the carton and mixed with the fruits. It blends in just 24 hours to the same luscious flavor as the Creamy Dressing.

Plane Misses Field But Lands Safely

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., (AP)—An Eastern Air Lines DC7 with 17 passengers aboard landed safely at Fort Lauderdale Executive Airport Tuesday night, five miles shy of its intended landing site, Broward International Airport.

The Broward tower said the pilot apparently misjudged his landing. EAL officials said the runway at the small airport posed a takeoff problem.

Stoney Creek Battle Is Remembered

STONEY CREEK, Ont. (AP)—It seemed an insignificant victory that mild spring morning of June 6, 1813, when 700 British soldiers routed 3,500 Americans on a small plain at the base of the Niagara escarpment.

Only in later years did historians see the true meaning of the battle of Stoney Creek.

Had the Americans not retreated, they doubtless would have broken through to join other armies marching from Detroit, seriously jeopardizing the defense of Canada during the War of 1812.

Now this Hamilton-area town of 6,500 is decking itself out for the 150th anniversary of the battle—to commemorate 150 years of peace between Canada and the United States.

The United States declared war on Great Britain June 18, 1812, and attacked Canada, then a British colony. The Americans claimed various grievances including violation of territorial waters by British naval vessels and impressment of American seamen for service in the Royal Navy.

The Stoney Creek celebrations are expected to draw 50,000 visitors.

A three-hour program Saturday will be highlighted by a re-enactment of the battle, with more than 200 combatants.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and W. Walton Butterworth, U.S. ambassador to Canada, will preside at Saturday's dedication of a renovated and remodeled battlefield park. Premier John Robarts of Ontario will open the celebration Thursday.

Garnish with fruits and sprigs of mint, if desired.

QUICKIE DRESSING

Two cups of dairy sour cream or more, depending upon desired creaminess, used right from the carton can be used in place of the Creamy Dressing.

NOTE: Extra Creamy Dressing may be covered and stored in refrigerator several weeks.

CREAMY DRESSING

Yield: 2 3/4 cups

- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon butter
- Dash of salt
- 2 cups dairy sour cream

In a small saucepan, mix eggs with sugar, orange juice and vinegar. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and stir in butter and salt. Cool; then, fold in sour cream. Chill while preparing fruits.

SALAD

- 1 cup seedless green grapes
- 1 cup diced banana
- 1 cup diced fresh pineapple
- 1 cup pitted Bing cherries
- 1 cup diced oranges
- 1 cup cantaloupe balls
- 2 plums, sliced
- 2 cups miniature marshmallows, OR
- 16 large marshmallows, quartered

Combine fruits and marshmallows. Fold in Creamy Dressing; spoon carefully into serving bowl. Chill 24 hours to allow fruit and dressing flavors to blend fully.
